Albany Blaze Claims 5 Children; Oldest One 7, Youngest 1

Albany, N. Y. AP — Five children, the oldest 7 years old, died Monday night in a fire that flashed through their home while their mother was reported away from the two-story frame house.

Mother Collapses

Fire officials said the children's mother, Mrs. Bernice Nunn, about 25, who is expecting her sixth, arrived home shortly after the fire broke out and collapsed when she saw flames leaping from the children's bedroom windows.

She was taken to Albany Medical Center Hospital for treatment of shock.

Coroner deForest Dietz identified Mrs. Nunn's dead children as:

Frank Finley, 1; Lisa Nunn, 3; Lonnie Nunn, 4; Mark Nunn, 5; and Michael Johnson, 7.

Huddled Against Wall

A Roman Catholic priest, Father Sylvester R. Benson, said he entered the building with firemen and found the bodies of the children huddled against a wall in a first-floor room at the front of the structure.

Father Benson said the young victims, who lived alone with their mother, had been "just inches from the safety of the outside. I did what I could for them."

Cause Not Determined

Deputy Fire Chief Augustus Brophy said the fire apparently started near where the children were found and rapidly flashed through the interior. The first call went in at 11:30 p.m., and the fire was under control shortly after midnight.

The cause was not immediately determined.

Two adjacent buildings on Second Street, in this city's Arbor Hill section, suffered extensive fire, smoke and water damage. Three families, with eight children among them, escaped from one of them, a three-story brick structure.

The Nunn residence was 87 Second St.

Food Execs Note Declining Profits, Threat of Boycott

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The nation's top food store executives, complaining of declining profits, faced new appeals from housewives today to cut their grocery bills.

"We'll boycott their stores," said Mrs. Charles Lundstrom of Miami, president of the Dade County Consumers' League. "If they don't do something about this, we'll picket their hotel."

As the supermarket executives gathered here for a convention to hear a report that their profits dipped last year, the housewives' protest gained momentum.

In Atlanta, Ga., women formed the "We've Had It Club," and at Rockledge, on the east coast of Florida, they were

Sillin Criticizes Udall's Plan For Development of River Valley

Central Hudson President Lelan F. Sillin Jr., today characterized as "incredible" the recent report by Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall for a three man commission with comprehensive authority for planning and development in the Hudson River Basin. He called the concept "contrary to our political institutions and heritage" and outlined an alternative to the federal proposal.

Sillin told the New York State Federation of Official Planning Organizations at its annual meeting at the Nevele Country Club in Ellenville that "our objective in planning should be to enhance the quality of human experience as affected by man's physical, social and economic environment," and that the "challenge" ... is whether the American people can, through traditional democratic institutions and our free enterprise system, secure the benefits of such an improved environment."

The Udall report defines the Hudson River Basin as being mostly in Northern and Eastern New York State, with small areas in New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Vermont. It covers a 13,366 square mile area with a population of approximately 5,000,000. The report suggests a three man commission, (one to be appointed by the federal government, one by New Jersey, and one by New York)—with broad powers over the entire basin."

Sillin, using the actual language of the report, listed the powers which would be conferred upon the proposed commission, and then emphasized that "this proposal by the Secretary of the Interior seems to me not only to ignore existing democratic institutions but by indirection, expresses a lack of confidence in them."

"Authority to prepare, adopt, and maintain a comprehensive plan for the immediate and long-range development of the Hudson River Basin. The comprehensive plan would consider plans prepared by each of the affected municipalities and approved by the commission. It would encompass all public and private projects affecting the basin."

"Authority to review projects that would have a significant impact on the basin and to disapprove those not in accord with the comprehensive plan."

"Authority to review local zoning ordinances with the power to disapprove those not in accord with the comprehensive plan, and to issue zoning regulations in the absence of appropriate zoning action by local and state authorities."

Would Occur Within 180 Days if Conditions Met

MANILA AP — In a bid for peace, President Johnson and his war allies announced today they are prepared to withdraw forces from South Vietnam within six months after their conditions for establishing peace are fulfilled.

Pledges Fall Elections

Winding up the two-day summit meeting, the South Vietnamese regime pledged to hold national elections by next fall.

On the troop pullout, the communique signed by the seven heads of government declared:

Police Alert As Anti-U.S. Riot Fizzles

MANILA (AP) — Military

police took elaborate precautionary measures today on information that demonstrators would attempt another noisy riot denouncing President Johnson. But night fell and the demonstration failed to materialize.

A group of youngsters near the Manila Hotel compound, where the summit chiefs of government are staying, carried placards hailing the summit conference.

Received Tip

The police had been tipped that there would be a rock-throwing attack in the afternoon as a follow-up to the riotous outburst Monday night by youngsters denouncing the Viet Nam war.

Police partly closed an iron gate leading to the hotel while the leaders were several miles away at Malacanang Palace.

A police commander said police had received reports that a band of students in cars would attempt to speed around the semicircular driveway in front of the hotel and hurl rocks at the building.

Some 400 troops and police with riot trucks and ambulances, were on duty to prevent a recurrence of Monday night's melee in which 2,000 students surged close to the hotel before they were driven back and finally dispersed.

Youth Is Wounded

On Monday night's violence, one youth was wounded by gun shot. Several others were injured by clubs and there were four arrests.

Hearing Is Set By School on 65 Exemptions

The Board of Education of the Kingston City Schools, Consolidated announced today a public hearing will be held at 8 p. m. Tuesday, Nov. 15, at the J. Watson Bailey School Auditorium.

The hearing will be held on the question of whether or not a school tax exemption shall be granted to persons 65 years of age or over in accordance with Chapter 616 of the Laws of 1966.

All interested persons are invited to attend.

The Freeman, as a public service is beginning a series of articles in this issue on questions and answers pertinent to the subject. The first such article may be found on Page 3.

"They shall be withdrawn, after close consultation, as the other side withdraws its forces to the North, ceases infiltration and the level of violence thus subsides."

"These forces will be withdrawn as soon as possible and not later than six months after the above conditions have been fulfilled."

Withdrawal of foreign troops from the South has often been stated by the Communists as a necessary condition for a peace settlement. Frequently it has been listed as a specific condition for entering into peace talks.

Clear Overture to Reds

The announcement was clearly intended as an overture to interest the Communists in starting discussions. However, the communique offered no evidence that in this it might be successful. On the contrary it was stated that Hanoi "has shown no sign of taking any step toward peace by action or by entering into discussions or negotiations."

The communique and two declarations — on the "goals of freedom" in Asia and the Pacific — were signed in the closing session of the seven-nation conference at Malacanang Palace.

Carries Pledge of Seven

The "goals of freedom declaration" carried a pledge of the seven nations to work to build a region of security and progress and to fight hunger, illiteracy and disease.

President Ferdinand E. Marcos of the Philippines was the first to sign the communique. He then passed out copies and the others signed simultaneously.

High spots of the agreements included:

Agreement Features

1. An undertaking to work with the International Red Cross "or any other appropriate forum" to discuss an exchange of prisoners of war and immediate repatriation of sick and wounded.

2. Set up consultative machinery on Vietnamese war problems and policies, consisting primarily of meetings between ambassadors in Saigon. Foreign ministers and heads of government of the seven nations are to meet "as required."

3. Declared "our unity, our resolve, and our purpose in seeking together the goals of freedom in Viet Nam and in the Asian and Pacific areas."

4. Agreed on a set of "principles on which we base our hopes for future peace and progress in the Asian and Pacific region."

U.S. officials described the communique section on withdrawal of the allies a significant statement for U.S. policy, though consistent with the U.S. stand because it makes emphatically clear that the Americans do not intend to stay on in South Viet Nam after the North's forces leave.

The pledge was made in this way, at this time, it was said, because of recent charges that the Americans really wanted to stay on.

So far as Washington is concerned, if the North Vietnamese pull out and Hanoi stops supplying the Viet Cong, South Viet (Continued on Page 19, Col. 7)

Will Keep Reserves As Backup

On Ready-Alert For Mobilization

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon plans to maintain the nation's Selected Reserve Force in a high state of readiness at least until mid-1967 as a hedge against any required mobilization.

Maj. Gen. Winston P. Wilson, head of the National Guard Bureau, disclosed this today in assessing the progress of the 150,000-man force, organized a year ago as a first-line backup for the regular Army.

Results Fantastic

"The results have been fantastic," Wilson said, pointing out that 86 per cent of 423 SRF units tested during the summer passed regular Army battalion-level examinations. Sixty which flunked are being retested.

"This is quite good for part-timers," he said.

The National Guard forms the bulk of the Selected Reserve Force with 131,000 men, compared with the Reserve's 19,000.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara set up the Selected Reserve Force a year ago during the Viet Nam buildup as an alternative to ordering to active duty Army Reserve or National Guard units.

Super Ready Force

In this situation, McNamara established the SRF as a super-ready force which could be ordered to a crisis spot within nine weeks of alert while home-based Army divisions were rebuilding.

The objective of the select unit in the past year has been attained — getting in shape to be able to arrive at a mobilization station on seven days' notice, then undergo eight weeks of brigade and division level training before deployment overseas.

The rapid transition of Guard and Reserve units in the SRF from lower to higher priority outfits has, however, exacted a price.

For one thing, expansion of (Continued on Page 19, Col. 8)

Report Progress on Jury Seating in Sheppard Trial

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — "We believe we are making progress with the impaneling of this jury," Judge Francis J. Talty said today as interviewing of prospective jurors for the retrial of Samuel H. Sheppard went into a second day.

Sheppard is on trial in Cuyahoga County Common Court on a charge of second-degree murder in the slaying of his first wife, Marilyn, 12 years ago.

In this morning's session up to recess time two women jurors were interviewed but excused. Monday's six prospective jurors were seated and two others were excused, when Judge Talty ruled them unqualified.

A conference of attorneys delayed start of today's session about 20 minutes. There were some empty seats on the benches in the small oak-paneled courtroom when proceedings got under way. Most of the audience of 25 were newsmen.

Sheppard, wearing a dark suit, sat with his lawyers and took occasional notes.

"We are now at the same point where Dr. Sheppard was 12 years ago as though there had been no trial," defense attorney F. Lee Bailey said in his opening examination of prospects, as he asked them: "Are you able to approach this case as though there never had been a trial and we are starting fresh?"

Sheppard, now 42, was convicted in 1954 of the bluejean slaying of Marilyn Sheppard. (Continued on Page 19, Col. 5)

FIRST TO GO DOWN—With city officials members of the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency and others at hand to mark an historic occasion, former School No. 3, Chambers Street, a downtown landmark well imprinted on the minds of many who received their elementary education there, today was to become only a memory. The structure, built in 1868, was reported about one-third razed shortly before noon. A bulldozer and Meanwhile, Saugerties has reported 81.4 per cent of its drive to date, totaling $5,258. New Paltz has reached the 42.7 per cent with $4,359 pledged.

Decision in Woodland Leads To the End of Another Era

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA
Freeman Staff Writer

An era dies, a tradition passes, a home that was something more than a home returns to being just that — roof and walls, bedrooms and closets, walkways and ceilings.

In one such house in Woodland this week, the passing era, the end of tradition and the marks of the venerable past were everywhere. For, in this Ulster County community, another page in history had come to its impassable end.

Day to Be Remembered

Friday was a day to be remembered by anyone, as autumn days go. The air was sharp, the sun bright, the sky a cobalt blue, the trees aflame with fire-works — but for the two men who worked inside the house in Woodland, the day would be remembered for something other than the present. It would be remembered for the charted, certain past it represented . . . and for the history they had come to bury. The men, postmasters Paul A. Miller and Frank Hannigan, were there to close forever the last outpost of its kind in Ulster County.

From the point of view of today's letter writers and sight-seeing motorists, old country post offices are "only for looking at." It wasn't always so. There was a not-too-distant time when they served as one of the hubs of community activity. But, when Mr. Zip became king, when the three-cent stamp disappeared, something went out of our national life. More and more, small post offices became extinct, passing from the scene and consolidating with larger communities, just as the little red schoolhouse had done before them.

Last of Its Type

Ulster County's last such representative of that former age vanished Friday as the postal districts of Woodland and Phoenicia, New York, consolidated. In the future, all Woodland postal patrons will be served by star route service from Phoenicia. Woodland postmaster Paul Miller had previously applied for optional retirement and the change Friday was made concurrent with his release.

As Miller and Hannigan worked, the signs designating Miller's home as a U.S. Post Office were removed and the equipment which had been used to send the news of joyous births and grieved-over deaths along its way to relatives and friends through the years was taken over by Hannigan, for transfer to Phoenicia.

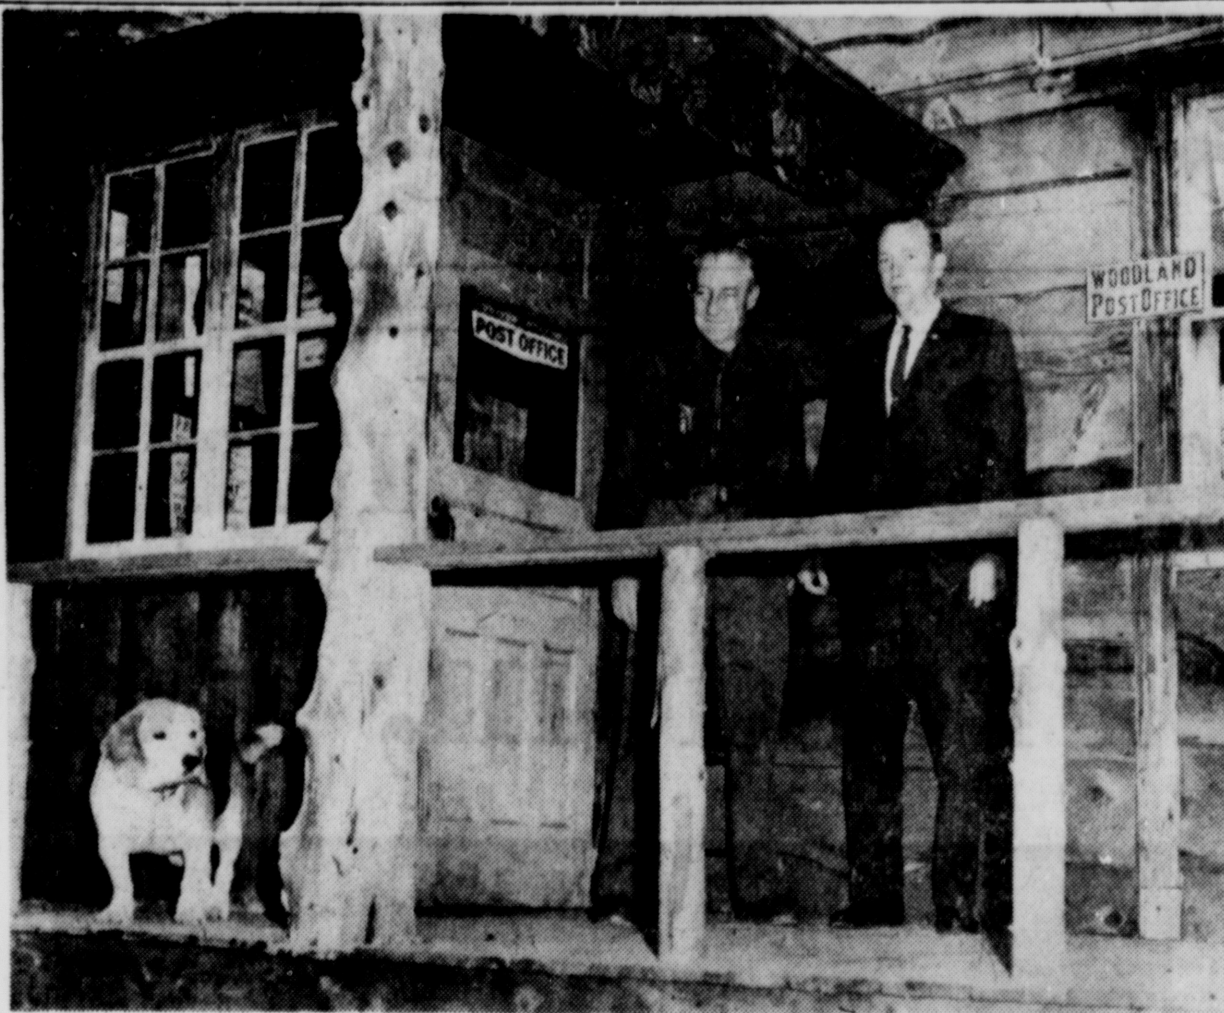

It was a day devoted to myriad paper work, necessary for the consolidation, and a day which brought back many memories to Miller. He had run the Woodland post office from his home for 26 years. His father, Edward B. Miller, had had the same job for 40 years before passing it on to his son.

But much had happened over the years since E. B. Miller first came to Woodland and started the famed Roxmor Inn, a hotel and boarding house once favored by many old-time Kingstonians and others. Woodland is located in the northwest corner of Ulster and the area served by its post office in recent years has been primarily the Woodland State Camp area, part of the Catskill State Park. Only 12 families have been receiving mail at the office year-round, an incongruous thought when one thinks of block-long postal buildings and the automated, streamlined machinery which sorts and bundles thousands of pieces of mail daily.

Summer People Few

During the summer, postal patrons swelled in numbers but only by 60 or so additional families. Also, there were about a dozen patrons of the Woodland post office who had boxes at the Phoenicia office, a little over three miles away. Quiet, pastoral Woodland boasted no schools or business establishments to help boost postal business.

It follows that very few trans-

LAST OUTPOST OF ITS KIND—Postmasters Paul A. Miller and Frank Hannigan of the Woodland Valley Post Office were on hand Friday to close out another era of the past. The Woodland PO, the last outpost of its kind in Ulster County, vanished from the scene Friday as the postal districts of Woodland and Phoenicia consolidated. All Woodland postal patrons in the future will be served by star route service from Phoenicia.

actions occurred at the post office. A recent study out of Washington, D. C., showed that postal revenue consisting of stamp sales, money order fees, box rents, etc., for the 1966 fiscal year amounted to only $756 or about $2.50 a day. Miller, without any assistant, handled an average of 90 pieces of mail of all classes, both incoming and outgoing, daily. In this somehow charming synthesis of unhurried business atmosphere and quiet routine, the office issued less than one money order a month on the average and other postal transactions were also very infrequent.

Small wonder that, like the kerosene lamps which once lit it, the Woodland post office was doomed. Its fate was irrevocably sealed by all those involved. Concurring in the decision to close the post office were the people of the Town of Shandaken, retiring postmaster Miller, the office of Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick, and the office of the Postmaster General in Washington, D. C.

For, like the fall of the small-spawn, which is said always to be marked from on high, the demise of the smallest post office, too, is noted in the nation's capital.

Star Route Takes Over

And, so, the Woodland office is gone. Postmaster Hannigan and his Phoenicia staff will take on the services required by the 60 or so people involved, and Elizabeth Wrixon, the star route 35447 carrier, will be the new "mailman." By car, she will be able to provide adequate postal service to all Woodland patrons via star route.

Not the least of the considerations in this death knell were the substantial savings involved. Minimum cost of operating the post office, including the postmaster's salary, was estimated at about $2,920 per year. Without the salary, rent, fuel, light, equipment, etc., the new consolidation with Phoenicia should result in a minimum reduction of operation cost of approximately $1,920 yearly.

Star route carrier Wrixon will deliver and collect mail from patron's rural boxes on her line of travel all the way to the end of the valley. She'll also sell stamps deliver and accept registered, certified, insured and COD mail and provide money order service. Her schedule will be regular and daily and the service will be extended to all Woodland families on the road in front of their homes or at a point more convenient to their homes than the site of the post office. All that is required is that Woodland families change their address to "Phoenicia, New York 12446." Once this has been done, Woodland as a mailing address ceases to exist.

No Opposition Noted

Interview with patrons affected disclosed no opposition to the closing of the post office and, in some cases, an actual preference for star route delivery was noted. Summer residents were unconcerned because of their light mail volume during vacation time.

A rural branch was at one time considered but the idea was abandoned, even though it would have meant retaining community identity, once thought to be one of man's most cherished possessions. Patrons simply showed no interest and no bid was received for the conduct of such a branch. And, so, Woodland's community identity, like the Woodland mailing address, was lost—a fact that some sociologist someday may point to as an example of crumbling provincialism.

From this day forward, the landmark that was once the Woodland post office will be "only for looking at." Miller, who is proud that his building was once pictured on the cover of the Postmasters Gazette, will pursue other interests, although he does not intend to move from his long-time home. In that home, where one can easily summon up memories of those days before the combustion engine and electricity changed our civilization, he and his wife will enjoy the sun through the windows and the geraniums in the garden and begin to forget the stamps and envelopes. They will welcome the regular visits of their daughter and her husband, both of whom will shortly receive their doctorates in political science.

And all these phantom sheets

Health for All

Echoes From the Health Front

FASHION NOTE—A decline in the appendicitis case rate has been widely noted of late, and the trend is confirmed by Medical Tribune. Nobody is quite sure of the reason, but two possible causes are said to be better nutrition and the use of antibiotics.

FOR THE CAREER-MINDED—For young people and their elders interested in careers in the health field, the U. S. Department of Labor offers a comprehensive manual called Health Career Guidebook. Copies at a fee can be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402.

HIT THE BOTTLE?—Although nursing the baby has distinct advantages over the bottle routine for baby and mother alike, Dr. Frederick W. Goodrich Jr. advises that bottle feeding is preferable if Mom has a strong aversion to nature's method. Could be psychologically bad for junior, the theory goes.

MENTAL PATIENTS—The New York State Department of Mental Hygiene announced that the number of resident patients in its hospitals decreased from 84,862 on March 31, 1965, to 82,765 a year later. In 1965, the patient population totaled more than 93,000. The improvement is generally attributed to the use of tranquilizing drugs. It doesn't mean, unfortunately, that mental health is ceasing to be a serious problem.

INHALE, EXHALE—Latest "in" is the "breathe-in" as conducted some months ago at the California State Capitol in Sacramento. Many state senators and assemblymen joined the general public in taking a lung function test to find out whether signs of respiratory disease might be present. The action was carried out by the TB and Health Association of Sacramento County.

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by Ulster County TB and Health Association, Inc., 124 Green Street.

Property Tax Exemption

A public hearing will be held by the Board of Education of Kingston School Consolidated at J. Watson Bailey Junior High School 8 p. m. Nov. 15 on the question of property tax exemption for the aged. All interested persons will be heard.

A new section of Real Property Tax Law authorizes any county, city, town, village or school district, after public hearing, to enact a local law, ordinance or resolution granting a 50 per cent exemption on real property owned by persons 65 years of age or over meeting the statutory qualifications.

The following question and answer series issued by the State Board of Equalization and Assessment is printed by The Freeman as a public service.

Local Authorization

How is the exemption granted? Any county, city, town, village or school district is authorized, after a public hearing, to enact a local law, ordinance or resolution granting 50 per cent tax exemption on real property owned by persons 65 years of age or over meeting the statutory qualifications. School districts, which are not authorized to act by local law or ordinance, may adopt resolutions granting the exemption from school taxes.

Is every county, city, town, village or school district required to grant the exemption?

No. The decision as to whether the exemption is to be granted rests with the legislative body of each county, city, town, village or school district.

If a county adopts a local law granting the exemption, must all other municipal corporations in the county also grant the exemption?

No. If a county grants the exemption, it only applies to county taxes and does not apply to taxes levied by localities within the county. Similarly, if the exemption is granted by the town, it would only apply to town taxes and not to village taxes.

May a county, city, town, village or school district modify in any way the qualifications which are set forth in section 467 of the Real Property Tax Law as the tests which owners must meet in order to receive an exemption?

No.

PLAN HARVEST BALL—Committee members of Town of Esopus Post 1298, American Legion discuss final plans for the first annual Harvest Moon Ball to be held at the post home, Port Ewen, Saturday night. Sen. Newcombe Endorses Fish

State Senator Lloyd A. Newcombe today came out with a strong endorsement of Hamilton Fish Jr., as the Republican candidate for Congress.

"I want to urge all my friends and constituents not only to vote for Ham, but to actively work for his election," Senator Newcombe said.

"I believe his election is vital, not only for the good of our district, but for the good of our country. It is essential that a strong two-party balance be re-established in Congress," Senator Newcombe added.

Newcombe, who backed Alexander Aldrich in the June Republican primary election, stated, "I am as solidly behind Ham Fish as is anyone who has worked for him since he began his campaign last January. He won his nomination in a fair, hard-fought primary, and I sincerely believe he deserves the support of every Republican, and of every Democrat and independent who admires courage, honor, and integrity."

Senator Newcombe, who represents the 43rd Senatorial District, won his nomination following a difficult primary contest in 1965, and ran well ahead of the ticket in 1965 general election.

"I am convinced that not only the basic qualifications of training, intelligence, and ability, but the nearly 12 months of hard campaigning in every corner of our Congressional District will make Ham Fish the finest representative this district has ever had in Washington," Senator Newcombe continued. "I have always contended that primary elections can lend vigor to our Republican Party, and to government itself."

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — "To Save a Soldier" on ABC Monday night was a memorable hour of television, a revelation of the compassionate as well as cruel face of war.

Shocking at Times The documentary showed, in sometimes shocking detail, the military operation that can lift wounded men from isolated rice paddies to medical care in minutes. It followed along on the long journey home for the 99 per cent who can be "returned to life."

The cameras picked up a young soldier, Dennis Aldrich, a few minutes after he had stepped on a mine and a metal fragment entered his flank, shattered his spleen, destroyed part of his kidney and lodged in his lung.

In following Aldrich through four hospitals in Viet Nam and the Philippines we also were shown the network of men, hospitals, plans and communications all over the world working to help heal the injured.

One of the most interesting sequences was shot aboard a hospital plane returning 25 men to the United States for further treatment. Dedicated flight nurses ministered to the men.

The Aldrich story had a happy ending. It showed the recuperating soldier arriving at his Stevens Point, Wis., home and the emotional greeting from his family.

The program also underscored the terrible waste of war. A flight nurse summed up: "I don't know whether it makes any sense or not as to why they're...," she said, letting her words trail off. "I don't think about it. I don't understand it. The problem is to see what you can do with them from here on in."

Lucy Not So Amusing

"Lucy in London," said to relate, is not nearly as amusing as Lucy in L.A. and the Desilu Studios. Her CBS special Monday night was loaded with frantic action but little real entertainment.

The new Nielsen ratings, issued Monday for the two weeks ending Oct. 9, put NBC's "Bonanza" back in its accustomed spot at the top of the prime evening time show list. Others in the top 10 were CBS' "Red Skelton Show," Andy Griffith Show, NBC's Bob Hope hour and Saturday night movie, CBS' Lucy Show, ABC's Rat Patrol, only new series to get top audience grades — CBS' Jackie Gleason Show, ABC's Sunday night movies and NBC's Walt Disney hour.

Day Care Centers Opened In Viet Nam by Quakers

The American Friends Service Committee has just announced the opening of a day care center for refugee children in Quang Ngai, South Viet Nam, as the first step in the development of a coordinated refugee program in that area.

At the same time the Quaker organization made public its intention to donate $2,000 to the Canadian Friends Service Committee (Quakers), and $4,000 to the International Committee of the Red Cross in Geneva for the purchase and sending of medical supplies for war victims in both North and South Viet Nam and in areas held by the National Liberation Front. A license to send these funds has been issued to the American Friends Service Committee by the United States Treasury Department.

Will Expand to 100

A day care center in the nursing school and a kindergarten program for children between the ages of two-and-a-half and six years. The facilities will take care of 50 children at first, but will later be expanded to accommodate 100. Supplementary feedings will be given at both morning and afternoon sessions to the children, chosen as the "neediest" by local welfare officials.

In addition to the day care center, the AFSC is operating a training class in sewing and clothes-making for refugee women. Three women from the Chieu Ho refugee camp in Quang Tin Province have come the 45 kilometers for this training course. It is expected that, once trained, they will teach others in their camp.

The operation of the refugee program, established at the request of the provincial government, will be under the direction of David and Mary Stickney of Chicago. They will shortly be joined by Masako Yamanouchi of Tokyo, Japan. Vietnamese workers have already been employed, and additional staff appointments will be announced soon.

Quang Ngai is located approximately 200 miles south of the North Vietnamese border and six miles from the coast. Approximately eighty-seven thousand refugees are living in the area, and the number is expected to increase.

Approximately forty-five thousand of the refugees are without housing or are in temporary camps. Most are unemployed and without nearby relatives or friends. The American Friends Service Committee will help provide services to meet their immediate needs, offering programs in basic education useful skills, and recreation.

Numerous Abandoned Children

David and Mary Stickney have found the needs of Vietnam's children to be "overwhelming." The escalation of the war within the past 18 months has greatly increased the number of injuries and the number of refugees. Thousands of children have been abandoned by uprooted families unable to support them.

A team of observers was sent to Viet Nam in the summer of 1965 to find ways for the American Friends Service Committee to help the needs of war victims. AFSC programs planned for that country are based on their findings. In addition to the Quang Ngai program, the organization is sponsoring three American young people who are working with indigenous agencies on social service projects in South Viet Nam.

The AFSC will continue to seek additional opportunities to bring relief to war victims in North Viet Nam, a spokesman said in announcing these new programs.

Conduct Study Series

Since the beginning of the U. S. military buildup in Viet Nam, the AFSC has conducted a program of education in the United States on the issues involved in the war. A book, "Peace in Viet Nam: A New Approach to Southeast Asia," especially prepared for the Committee, was published in April, 1966.

Two weeks ago, in a public advertisement, the American Friends Service Committee called for an immediate cessation of United States bombing and the beginning of a clearly stated and swiftly phased withdrawal of all American troops and weapons from Viet Nam.

The American Friends Service Committee, a Quaker organization, was founded in 1917 to meet the needs of victims in World War I. It has continued to serve in this capacity during its 50-year history, meeting the human needs where they existed without regard to political boundaries or ideological positions. With the Friends Service Council of London, England, the AFSC was the co-recipient of the Nobel Peace Prize in 1947, the only occasion when this prize has been awarded to organizations as distinct from an individual.

South's Play Twin Barreled

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

It would have been easy for West to ruin the point in today's article. All he would have had to do would be to open the ace of clubs and continue, but West made his normal opening lead of the jack of diamonds.

South won dummy and drew trumps with three leads ending in his own hand. He could count three sure losers and there was a potential fourth if clubs broke badly. It was up to him to try to develop an elimination play to force a ruff and discard situation in that event.

South worked this out so nicely that he wound up with a double barreled play. He started by leading a club toward dummy. East played low and dummy's king held the trick. South saw that he could not afford to play a second club and there was no need to do so anyway. He led a spade to his ace and shot back the jack.

West played low. He could not afford to get in the lead because he would have been end-played right then and there. East was in with the queen and led the queen of diamonds. This put South back in dummy with an interesting option.

He could lead back a diamond. That would put East in the lead and he would have to lead a diamond or spade which would give South a chance to ruff in one hand and discard a club from the other.

South took a second alternative. He led a club to his queen. West took his ace and led back the nine spot. South won with dummy's jack and threw West back in with the last club whereupon West had to lead a spade and give South the chance to ruff and discard the losing diamond.

Wilson Ridicules Majestic Charge

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Ulster County today branded a recent charge by his Democrat opponent as utterly ridiculous, and wondered how such a complete unfactual statement could be made by a supposedly responsible public official. Wilson went on to say that the Democrat candidate either has received some extremely bad advice from those running his campaign, or else the candidate himself must be a bit confused concerning State laws and the operation of political parties in New York State.

According to Assemblyman Wilson, his opponent, Supervisor George Majestic, recently issued a statement to the press to the effect that there was some sort of "illegality" about a person holding both an elective office and a position within a political party, and the Assemblyman, who is also the Republican County Chairman, challenged Majestic to cite any section of the State Election Law, the Public Officers' Law, or any other State statute which either says or implies that such procedure is in any way "illegal."

Wilson added many state and local officials take an active part in the internal affairs of their respective political parties, and cited the fact that many leading members of Supervisor Majestic's own party are currently serving in both elective and party offices. The Assemblyman gave as just one example, Assemblyman Moses M. Weinstein, the present Democratic Majority Leader of the Assembly, who is also serving as the Democratic County Chairman of Queens County in New York City. Assemblyman Wilson further reminded Supervisor Majestic that just last year Majestic sought the office of State senator and was running for the office of Town Supervisor at the same time. Apparently, Wilson said, his opponent did not feel that he was doing anything "illegal" last year in running for two offices.

Assemblyman Wilson also commented on his opponent's unsuccessful attempt to obtain an additional place for himself on the ballot this year, and the Republican candidate said Majestic's bid to create a new political party for his own benefit was rejected by both the Democratic and the Republican Commissioners of Election on the grounds that the nominating petition failed to show the legal number of valid signatures. Wilson said an examination of the petition for the non-existent "Farmer's Party" revealed several hundred irregularities, many of which were witnessed by Supervisor Majestic himself.

Say County Cars Multiply Faster Than Population

According to the 1966 Ulster County Data Book automobile registration has increased at almost twice the rate as that of the total population increase in Ulster County from 1950 to 1964. Automobile registration climbed by 73% in the above period, while population rose by only 42% during the same period.

Recent population trends show that the population increase is taking place in outlying areas of Ulster County, and moving further and further away from the major places of work with many families requiring two automobiles. Although not too much is known about intermunicipal commuting within Ulster, almost 80% of all industrial employment recorded in the 1965 industrial survey was concentrated in the towns of Saugerties, Ulster, Wawarsing, and the City of Kingston, and it would appear that traffic movement and congestion is now and will in the future build up faster than the growth of population.

According to the U.S. Bureau of Census, in 1960, about thirteen per cent of Ulster's employed residents travel daily to a place of work outside of the County. According to the same figure, some 9,100 commuters either leave or enter Ulster County daily for employment adding to the local commuting traffic flow. The net movement of commuters is primarily outward to the more industrialized Dutchess and Orange Counties. These two counties attract 3,700 Ulster County residents daily, while in turn Ulster County attracts 1,800 of their residents daily. Another major out-flow is to Albany County which attracts 1,000 of Ulster's residents daily for employment.

Think Mother of 10 Took Own Life

WATERFORD, N. Y. (AP) — Mrs. Eugene J. Forget, 32, a mother of 10, was shot fatally Monday at her home in this village near Troy, and State Police said the death was an apparent suicide.

Anthony E. Matera, Rensselaer County coroner, withheld a verdict, however, pending an autopsy and further talks with police.

Troopers said that a .30-30 rifle, apparently owned by the dead woman's husband, was beside Mrs. Forget and that she had been shot in the right side. A neighbor discovered the body.

Declares Resnick Record One of Broken Promises

Hamilton Fish Jr., Republican candidate for Congress, today described his opponent's record "as a sorry one of broken promises and abandoned pledges."

The Republican candidate leveled the charge in a swing through Beacon, Saturday, where he called for a "positive program to raise the industrial level of our District."

Using as an example of "broken promises" by Congressman Resnick, Ham Fish Jr. pointed to Resnick's pledge two years ago to help the Hudson Valley's failing brick industry.

"When he was visited in Washington by officials of the Brick Handlers Union, to see if he would live up to his campaign promise . . . Our Congressman as usual was out," Fish charged.

"And what has happened during the two years since the Democratic incumbent has been in office?" Fish asked. "Another brick industry has gone out of business, while one in Dutchess County is temporarily shut down for lack of orders. That is the record," Mr. Fish charged.

Fish also asked where the Democratic incumbent had been when the fight in Ulster County was staged to have the Community College use native brick. "He was no where to be found. Our fighting Congressman was either hiding out, or was in Washington fighting to abolish the House Un-American Activities Committee, or maybe voting on some Great Society spending program to drive your taxes up."

"At any rate, he was not available when he was needed by his Constituents," Mr. Fish said.

The Republican candidate, in a hard hitting speech declared that if elected he would "use his influence on every level of government" to see that "local industry will be encouraged. I pledge myself to work not only to get industry into our District, but to work to see that already established industries can survive."

Still using the ailing brick industry as an example of what he meant, Fish said that "with our state having the biggest building boom in its history, there is no reason for the brick industry to be failing."

"If our brick meets specifications, there is no reason our Hudson Valley brick should not be used. These problems cannot be solved by the incumbent's arrogant indifference, screened under a blanket of high paid publicity."

"What our District needs is work, dedication and honest representation. If the people of this District elect me to Congress that is exactly what I pledge them. . . work, dedication, and honest representation."

"I suggest we need progress and not publicity. I want to represent this District in Washington, and not at trumped up Press conferences in the Essex House in New York City," Mr. Fish said.

In answer to "New Bride's" problem regarding the chipping or marring of enameled pole-type shelves:

I have found that rubberized trays (used on top of the toilet tank) are ideal.

They keep the shelves spotless and immaculate.

The rubber eliminates the clank of bottles and cans placed on them.

They are inexpensive, very easily cleaned with soap and water, and come in all colors to match the decor of the bathroom.

We have had our pole shelf cabinet three years and there isn't a nick, scratch or rust mark — thanks to these trays.

Dear Heloise:

While making drapes from some material that raveled badly, I hit on a honey of an idea.

After cutting a length, I just sprayed the edges lightly with lacquer hair spray. It doesn't show or strain, and there were no more ravel.

Scientist Discovers Vitamins Check Cancer

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

TOKYO (AP) — Big doses of vitamin A can halt or prevent development of lung cancer in animals, a scientist reported today.

He has found a way of inducing lung cancer — the same kind that humans get — in hamsters. But when he also feeds them vitamin A, very few come down with lung tumors.

His findings, he stressed, are by no means an invitation for cigarette smokers or people living in air-polluted areas to start gulping down vitamin A, or lots of carrots which are rich in the vitamin. Too much vitamin A can be harmful to humans.

Dr. Umberto Saffioti, Italian-born pathologist now at the Chicago Medical School, described his research at opening scientific sessions of the Ninth International Cancer Congress. He amplified them in an interview.

He turned up evidence that dust particles in the air, or in cigarette smoke, can be the "carriers" to take cancer-causing chemicals into the lungs.

Using hamsters, he prepared inert dust particles to which were attached crystals of a potent cancer-caused benzpyrene. Benzpyrene is found in smoke or exhausts from industrial plants, automobiles, coal furnaces, and also in cigarette smoke.

Doctors Told to Watch For Illness Akin to MD

HARRIMAN, N.Y. (AP)—The nation's physicians were urged today to be alert for a prime "masquerader" of tragically crippling muscular dystrophy—lest they miss or delay attacking a treatable disease.

The "mimic" disease — treatable by drugs of the cortisone family called "polymyositis." And it can often be confused by the unwary with muscular dystrophy, for which there are no drugs or other effective treatments, said Dr. Carl M. Pearson, professor of medicine at the University of California.

Muscular dystrophy affects at least 200,000 persons in the United States alone and polymyositis strikes nearly half as many others, he said.

Whereas there is no treatment at present for muscular dystrophy, other than physical medicine measures that are merely comforting, Pearson said this is the prospect with the "masquerading" disease if diagnosed early.

"You can expect some improvement and in a few cases nearly full recovery of strength (of muscles) in about 70 per cent of cases treated with corticosteroids — that is, cortisone and its derivative drugs."

Today's Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Business is becoming as concerned about mental health as the hospitals are, but for a different reason. Somebody has to pay the bill. More and more it looks as if business might be the one.

Fringe Benefit Possible

Medical and disability payments for mental illnesses may well become a fringe benefit if you use recent court cases as a guide. Time after time lately companies have been held liable for employee breakdowns.

A classic example involves payment to a railroad man who suffered a collapse because of what he said were emotional stresses and tensions in operating a traffic system while people shouted at him over loudspeakers.

Costs Building Up

The costs already are building up. Alcoholism, for example, is even now costing industry about $2 billion a year. But this bill is tabulated in lost productivity, in alcohol's proven association with accidents and absenteeism. The bigger bill, however, is likely to be in medical and disability payments.

bility payments. Emotionally ill persons may be out of work a long time. They could run up bills in the tens of thousands of dollars.

The costs of workmen's compensation and insurance premiums is rising. Premiums on compensation alone now run between $2 billion and $2.5 billion a year, even without the possible flood of mental illness claims.

The precedent has been established now that an emotional illness is "compensable" when it originates in a physical injury. A physical injury caused by emotional stress also is payable.

Motorist Charged

Arthur Johnson, 43, Bob Steele Motel, Route 9W, was charged with leaving the scene of an accident Sunday night after his arrest by Kingston State Trooper Fred Cooper. The arrest came a short time after the car operated by Johnson was alleged to have collided with the rear end of another vehicle driven by Peter Sumpter, 18, Saugerties RD 1, as both autos were northbound in the Albany Avenue Extension about 5:30 p. m.

Now the law has recognized that a psychiatric illness resulting solely from mental stress may be payable.

In some cases the worker has not even had to prove his illness was caused by his job. Instead, the responsibility was put upon the company to disprove the connection.

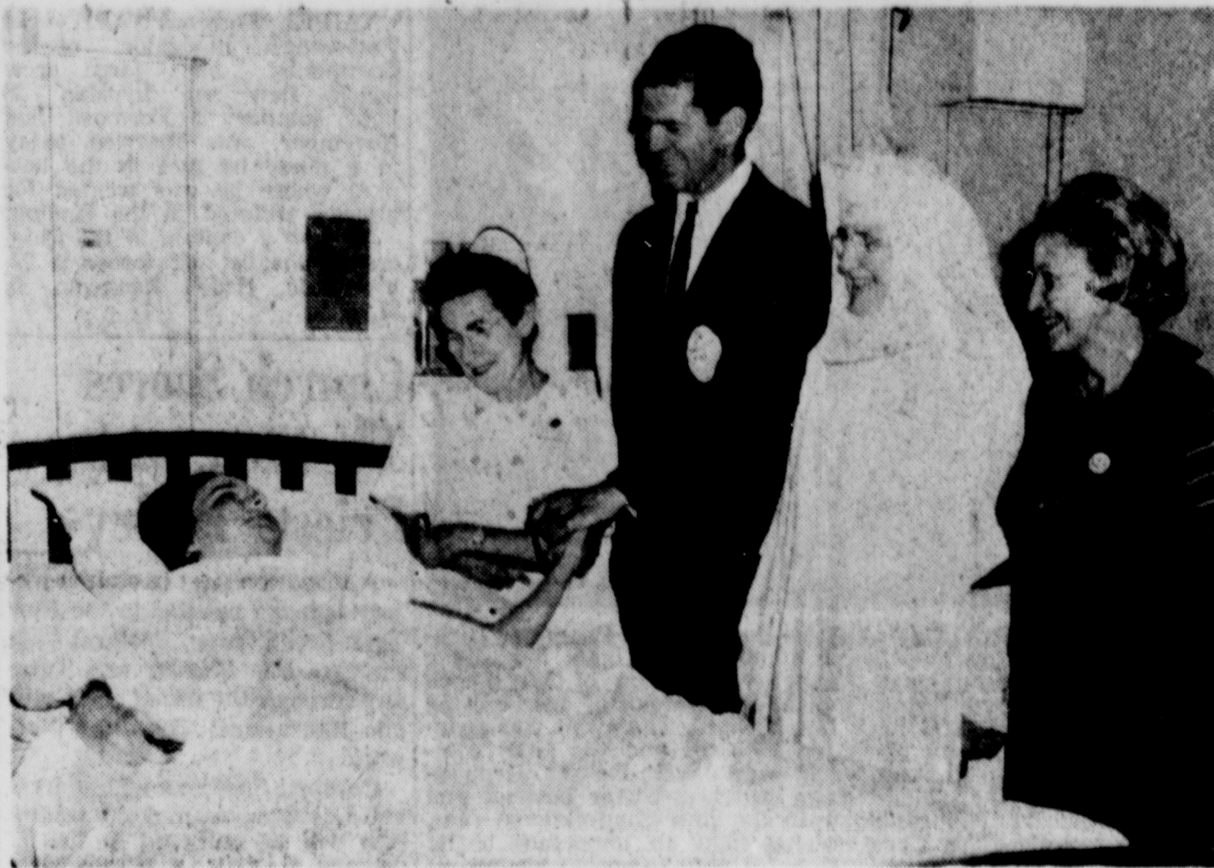

Unfair, Some Feel

Some businessmen feel this is unfair. But others feel business does have an obligation, seven in self interest. Since the problems cost them money, these businessmen reason, let's try to correct them and lessen our costs.

This is occurring, but to a limited degree, in some companies.

In medium-size plants today the medical center usually is staffed by a nurse, perhaps a doctor too, but seldom by a psychiatrist. The psychiatrist is finding a role in some plants, however.

One company that employed a psychiatrist in its medical unit one-half day a week reported 50 to 60 per cent of its alcoholics rehabilitated and seven of 10 psychotics returned to work.

Seek Four Men In Beating of Off-Duty Cop

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Police sought four men today in the severe beating of an off-duty patrolman outside a coffee shop near the city's downtown section.

Investigators said Patrolman Richard Donovan, 41, a 14-year member of the force, was attacked Monday night, apparently as he sought to quell a disturbance outside the restaurant, where he was eating.

Donovan was taken to Emergency Hospital and was placed on the critical list after undergoing brain surgery. The policeman, wearing civilian clothes, was found on the sidewalk.

Witnesses told police the four men sped away in an automobile. They obtained a license-plate number.

Donovan, the father of six, had been on sick leave from his job in the Identification Bureau at police headquarters.

His address is 81 Louisiana St. The coffee shop is at 326 Ohio St.

Allen Is Neutral On Church-State Split

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Dr. James E. Allen, state education commissioner, has taken up a neutral position in advance of expected hot debate at next year's Constitutional Convention over the separation of church and state.

Allen established that role Monday before the annual meeting of the State School Boards Association, by saying:

"As educators and trustees of education, we are, of course, bound by the principle of religious freedom which has been a formative and cherished principle of our history as a nation."

"We are also committed to the principle of equal educational opportunity for all, which likewise is a fundamental concept of our democratic society."

"... but, continuing to avail ourselves of the invaluable protection of the doctrine of church and state, we must seek those courses of action which will best achieve the combination of these two principles in terms of the realities of our day."

Allen said the aim of educators "should be to gain a better foundation for action to meet changing needs," while guarding against "specifics."

U.S. Buys Butter, Pork

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department says it has purchased large quantities of packaged butter and canned chopped meat to take advantage of low wholesale milk prices and to stabilize hog prices.

The department announced Friday that it had bought 688,000 pounds of packaged butter for school lunch use, the first acquisition for that purpose since last March.

One-half of the butter was bought at 68.75 cents a pound and the remainder for 68.20 cents per pound.

In addition, the department said it bought canned meat that it buys must contain at least 70 per cent pork. This is the first mandatory inclusion of pork in chopped meat purchases since May 1962.

Hatfield Claims LBJ Trip Gives Campaign Boost

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—Republican Mark O. Hatfield claims his campaign for the U. S. Senate has gotten a big boost from President Johnson's trip to the Manila conference on Viet Nam. "It's exactly what I have been advocating for a year and a half," says the 44-year-old governor of Oregon. "I have argued for a sustained diplomatic peace offensive, and that is what the President is doing now."

Hatfield, long a critic of the Johnson administration's conduct of the war, says he had been in trouble with the voters because of his argument that Johnson wasn't working hard enough to end the war.

Now, he says, Viet Nam won't even be an issue when the voters go to the polls Nov. 8.

Hatfield's opponent, Democratic Rep. Robert B. Duncan, disagrees. Duncan, an unequivocal supporter of Johnson's Viet Nam policies, says the war is, and will continue to be, the only issue of the campaign.

Ellenville School Is Given $37,347 For Reading Aids

Final approval was granted Oct. 19 by the New York State Department of Education for the implementation of Giant Step Phase II under the direction of Sanford Grossman.

This approval, under Title I will enable the Ellenville Central School District to continue in the remedial tutorial reading program which was so successful this past summer. The amount of money approved for Giant Step Phase II is $37,347.

Giant Step II is a continuation of the regular school reading program. The 90 children who participated in Giant Step during the summer will be invited to become part of Giant Step Phase II. The program is designed to aid children with reading difficulties in grades 3-7. Instruction will be by the same personnel who participated in Giant Step during the summer under the direction of Mrs. Carolyn Kuhlmann, reading specialist and Grossman.

Giant Step Phase II is a proposal to continue the improvement of basic reading skills and the cultural enrichment of educationally disadvantaged children in the Ellenville Central School District. There is a great need to continue the work started during the summer of 1966. Many of the participating children have begun to show improvement in reading skills. (Average reading gain during the past summer was three months) and a change in their basic attitude towards school.

In addition to a tutorial reading and art program, the children will be taken on six field trips; two during the school year and four during the summer. It is also the hope of Giant Step II that many well known personalities will take part in the program, thereby adding a measure of cultural enrichment to the educationally deprived child.

Giant Step Phase II will be inaugurated in the latter part of November and will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 4-5 p. m. at the Ellenville Central School. Special bus transportation will be provided for those children who normally take the bus to school.

A detailed letter outlining the program and the schedule will be sent to the parents of Giant Step children during the near future. Giant Step Phase II will work in conjunction with the Ellenville Public Library to see that a great variety of reading and cultural material will be made available to Giant Step children. A Mark Twain book award will be presented at the end of the program to those youngsters reading the greatest amount of books.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Britain was expected to add its voice today to the swelling U. N. chorus for speedy agreement on a treaty to ban the spread of nuclear weapons.

Lord Chalfont, Britain's disarmament specialist, was to spell out his government's views in the disarmament debate before the General Assembly's main Political Committee.

British quarters have expressed belief that the proposed treaty, now deadlocked by U. S.-Soviet differences, will be signed late next year. They believe it is possible agreement may come before the assembly convenes again next September.

Both the United States and the Soviet Union declared at the outset of the U. N. arms debate last week that prospects for agreement on a treaty were improved. Both warned, however, that differences remained.

Expect Britain To Join Call for Quick A-Pact

On the basis of that statement, a State Supreme Court judge issued a writ to discontinue a suit against three law enforcement agencies that had been charged with failing to protect workers during a strike at the GE plant here.

Two GE employees had filed a suit against Schenectady city and county police and Town of Rotterdam police in which the workers charged that authorities did not protect them properly when they tried to report for work Oct. 3.

The plant had been struck by Local 301 of the International Union of Electrical Workers and Local 128, Plumbers and Steamfitters. The walkout lasted 15 hours, and several pushing and shoving incidents were reported between pickets and non-strikers.

Term Tanker in Gulf As King-sized Bomb

MORGAN CITY, La. (AP)—The burning tanker Gulfstar, still a potential king-sized bomb, wallowed in the Gulf of Mexico's calm swells today.

The Coast Guard said seven dead men apparently were aboard.

The seven never got off when the crew abandoned ship Monday.

"It is believed that all missing persons were trapped in their staterooms," said Larry L. Larue, captain of the 572-foot Gulf Oil Corp. tanker.

Two Coast Guard cutters, the Point Lookout of Morgan City, La., and the Iris, out of Galveston, Tex., were standing by at a safe distance, along with the tug Titan from Sabine, Tex.

The fire erupted after two explosions, apparently in the engine room or pump room, at about 3 a. m. Monday.

The Gulfstar was about 30 miles south of Morgan City.

It was feared the flames would touch off the 153,000 barrels of gasoline aboard. However, the fire roared on all day and Monday night — apparently confined to the stern section.

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—The launching of an Atlas-Centaur rocket on a test flight was postponed today when faulty temperature data came from a radio channel in the second stage.

The trouble developed as the countdown reached five minutes.

No New Date Set

No new launching date was set immediately.

The radio channel transmits temperatures recorded on the chambers of two liquid hydrogen engines.

A space agency spokesman said that a land line connected to the rocket on the pad relayed proper data but that the radio channel did not. Without the temperature information ground stations would not be able to evaluate performance of the second stage during flight.

Main goal of the test flight will be the first double ignition of high-powered hydrogen engines in space.

Communications Satellite

Preparations continued here for the launching Wednesday of a satellite by the Communications Satellite Corp. The payload, set for 6:05 p. m. EST, is to be fired into stationary orbit high above the Pacific to open the first commercial space communications link between North America, Hawaii and Southeast Asia.

Success of the Atlas-Centaur double ignition would fully qualify the rocket for unmanned lunar and planetary flights. It also would provide confidence for the Apollo program, whose Saturn 5 man-to-the-moon rocket will require twin firings of hydrogen engines.

With a restart capability, Centaur would be able to launch to the moon every month of the year. A one-burn mission limits launchings to a period between July and October. The capability also would open up wider periods for launching toward the planets.

Atlas-centaurs are scheduled to launch a probe toward Venus next year and two vehicles toward Mars in 1969.

Rocky Says Dems Are Exploiters Of Human Misery

NEW YORK (AP)—Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller asserted today that his Democratic opponent, Frank D. O'Connor, "shamelessly exploits human misery for political purposes" in television commercials showing mental patients.

The governor called the commercials an example of Democratic party "demagoguery" in remarks prepared for delivery before the Ripon Society and at Columbia University.

"The old line (Democratic) political machine, driven from its ancient citadel in New York City, is now trying to re-establish itself in Albany," he said.

Its tactic, Rockefeller said, is to distort his administration's record. "No administration and no legislative body in New York's history has done more to improve the state mental hospitals," he asserted.

"Yet my opponent shamelessly exploits human misery for political purposes — showing mental patients on television to dramatize a thoroughly reprehensible distortion of our record in this field," Rockefeller said.

He urged the young GOP group to watch "this campaign closely for it is a classic example of hiding a poverty of ideas in a smoke-screen of half-truths and untruths."

NEW YORK (AP)—Arthur William Brown, 85, a magazine illustrator for some of this century's best-known authors, died at his Manhattan home Monday.

He illustrated stories for Booth Tarkington, Clarence Budington Kelland, Irvin S. Cobb and Ring Lardner, among others, and earned thanks from them for making their characters come to life.

Illustrations, he once said, "make you want to read the story. We're the ballyhoo guys to bring people into the author's tent."

Among actresses who posed for his sketches were Norma Shearer and Joan Blondell.

A native of Hamilton, Ont., he left no immediate survivors. His wife, Grace, died last year.

Drop Suit

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP)—A lawyer for the General Electric Co. says local police now "have affirmatively shown by their actions their ability to enforce law and order."

On the basis of that statement, a State Supreme Court judge issued a writ to discontinue a suit against three law enforcement agencies that had been charged with failing to protect workers during a strike at the GE plant here.

Police Stage City Roundup

Local police staged a roundup downtown Monday night after an Ann Street garage was broken into and 10 calves were released from a truck.

A report at 10:10 p. m. noted that the livestock owned by the Kingston Beef Corp., of Meadow Street, was "running loose."

It was found that the truck tailgate had been left down allowing the load to scam. George Farber, president of the corporation, was notified and officers Gerald Tierney, Joseph Feraca, and Ira Hasdel were dispatched for the roundup.

The report concluded by noting that the calves were "roped by the officers with the assistance of Constable Frank Barloff, of Port Ewen." It was estimated that about $100 in damage had been done to the garage and truck.

Church Scores TV First with Priests Parley

A television first in church history is being realized in the New York Archdiocese as Pastoral Conferences this Monday and Tuesday through the use of the Catholic Educational Television Network.

Cardinal Spellman will address via television over 1200 priests who will be gathered in the 12 district discussion centers throughout the Archdiocese. The discussion at the district centers will be prompted by the telecast remarks of Msgr. James Rigney of New York and Father Andrew Greeley of Chicago on Parish Life and Vatican II.

The 2500 megacycle Catholic Educational Television Network which has been described as "on the air closed circuit" originates its programs from the new Communication Center at St. Joseph's Seminary, Yonkers. Kennedy Wants Three-Year Ban On Atom Testing

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., called Monday night for a two- or three-year ban on all nuclear weapon testing as "a carefully limited attempt to find a new way to agreement."

Kennedy climaxed a day of urging Pacific Northwest voters to support Democratic candidates, by saying that the most urgent need in the world is to bring nuclear weapons under control.

"The danger is great," he said, "that these nations will produce these weapons, and once produced, one day they will be used."

He proposed a ban of two or three years, with no obligation on the countries to continue it after that time. He said it would be only a trial but one that would show the world that the United States and the Soviet Union were moving to limit the nuclear threat.

Kennedy spoke to a cheering overflow throng at the Labor Center Auditorium. The auditorium seats only 900, but estimates of the crowd ranged from 5,000 to 7,000.

To Test Second Giant XB70A Bomber June 8

By RALPH DIGHTON
AP Science Writer

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—An officer who was reprimanded after the crash of a giant XB70A bomber June 8 is scheduled to be at the Edwards when its sister ship takes the next week's test.

He is Col. Joseph Cotton, XB70A test force director, who has flown both planes many times. He was observing from a T38 chase jet when the more successful of the two 2,000-mile-an-hour experimental craft and an F104 chase jet collided on a commercial picture-taking flight, killing two men.

Chase planes again will be in the air when the remaining XB70A flies Nov. 1, some of them taking pictures and some flying near its triangular wings — the position of the F104 at the time of the collision.

One Air Force officer was assigned to other duties and Cotton and two others were reprimanded for approving the June 8 photograph mission, which Secretary of the Air Force Harold Brown said was of "questionable propriety." One of the goals of that flight was to provide commercial pictures of the XB70A's huge engines for use by General Electric.

Primary goal of next week's flight will be to create a sonic boom over Edwards in order to measure the effects of shock waves generated by planes flying faster than sound.

Air Pike Status

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP)—Bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church go behind closed doors today to air accusations of heresy against Bishop James A. Pike.

All parties involved in the month-long theological rift agreed during early portions of the discussion in order to "set a frame of reference."

However, the House of Bishops, in voting the closed-door motion Monday, ruled that most of the actual debate on the charges will be held in public.

The Rt. Rev. Henry I. Lottitt, bishop of South Florida, has gathered signatures of 28 bishops on a list of accusations against Bishop Pike, saying he espoused "heretical ideas."

The House of Bishops, midway in a week-long meeting here, scheduled the closed-door hearing for 3:30 p. m. EDT. By terms of the motion, it can last only up to one hour.

REV. RUSSELL ABATA

Speaker Named For 1st Lecture On Morals Today

A series of three lectures at St. Joseph's School, 229 Wall Street, Kingston, sponsored by the adult division of the Ulster County Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, will begin this Thursday at 8 p. m. with the Rev. Russell Abata, CSSR, speaking on the topic How New the New?

Father Abata will trace the path of moral thinking from the Pharisees through Christ and the Apostles to the Council of Trent via the Scholastics and then to modern times.

Father Abata formerly was professor of Moral Theology at Mount St. Alphonsus Seminary. At present he is assigned to the Apostolate Home Mission Activities at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Rectory in New York City.

In Kingston Father Abata was often sought for counseling. He studied for three years under the world renowned moral theologian, Father Bernard Haring, CSSR. Father Abata earned his STL degree from the Institute Pontificum Angelicum and his STD from the Institute of Moral Theology of the Lateran Pontifical University, both in Rome, Italy.

Other Lecture Topics

The second and third lectures will be held at St. Joseph's School also. Thursday Nov. 10, the Rev. Robert A. Hess, pastor of the Flatbush Reformed Church and Brother John Basco Normandin of Marist College will speak on Situation Ethics.

The final lecture will be held Nov. 17 on the topic Freedom and the Law. Guest speaker will be announced.

The public may attend. There is no charge for admission. All speakers are experts in their field.

Lutheran Group Issues Statement on Viet Nam

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—Despite "an uneasy feeling" that U. S. actions "may at times belie our stated aims," the American Lutheran Church has adopted a statement that the "aims of our nation's government in assisting Viet Nam are sound."

But the statement backs the right of protest against the war's course, saying "it would be tragic if our nation were to stifle dissent, muffle criticism of its policies or refuse to recognize merit and sincerity in the policies of other nations."

Dr. Fredrik A. Schlotz, ALC president, told the church's statement should not be regarded as a position paper so much as a move to stimulate thinking and discussion and to encourage prayer to end the war.

The statement also said, "We do not want our nation to adopt the tactics of deceit, denial of truth, trickery and subversion we find so detestable in some other nations."

In a resolution on war, peace and freedom, delegates took the position that "no citizen can be excused from the massive mobilization of effort which total war demands" unless "he feels conscience-bound to resist."

Sees Rochester Board Acting in Good Faith

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) —The state education commissioner says he has "no reason to believe" that the Rochester Board of Education is not proceeding "in good faith" in an effort to achieve racial balance in city schools.

Commissioner James E. Allen thereupon dismissed Monday an appeal asking him to carry out a plan that would "materially reduce" racial imbalance in Rochester public schools.

Allen dismissed the appeal from a Rochester citizens group "without prejudice" so that the group could reopen "this matter, if they feel the plan ultimately proposed by the board does not meet their needs."

Allen examined the case when the citizens group labeled as "puny and ineffective" attempts to realign the racial makeup in the schools.

In his decision, Allen said he had no information that the school board was not moving ahead with "the development of an educationally sound plan to reduce racial imbalance."

Teachers Hear Resnick, Markes

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick spoke of the antiquated method of financing education Friday in a talk before the Fifth Annual Fall Conference of the Kingston Teachers Federation.

He was one of three speakers at the conference. Others included Robert J. Markes, associate superintendent of Kingston City Schools and George S. Wislocki, executive director of the Mid-Hudson and Catskill Museum.

Resnick, Democratic incumbent seeking his second term, told the teachers that "Horse and Buggy" methods are being used to underwrite "space age education." He said teachers should be asked to "take a vow of poverty" when they receive their licenses.

He stressed the number of teachers abandoning the profession because of poor pay and attributed this to a taxing system "that has nothing to do with ability to pay," referring to senior citizens on fixed incomes.

Markes, in his talk, stressed local projects available to Kingston schools under new federal aid laws. He accompanied his talk with slides showing the new Multi-Media Center.

The concluding talk by Wislocki, concerned the Pine Project, aimed at presenting natural wonders of the Catskills to area teachers and students.

Wislocki said the project, sponsored by federal funds, also needs private monies if it is to succeed.

Attend Parley On Community Action Training

Charles W. Jorgensen, executive director of Ulster County Community Action Committee, Inc., the anti-poverty agency of the county, is attending a two-week community action training center at the University of Missouri in Columbia, Mo.

Jorgensen left for the Missouri sessions following a three-day directors' conference at the Carnegie Institute for International Peace Oct. 19-21, New York, according to Doug S. Meyers Jr., president of the county organization.

The executive director is scheduled to report on both the New York and Missouri training for the board of directors of the Community Action Committee Monday, Nov. 7, in the County Office Building.

On the agenda in New York were addresses and discussion on the New York State Office of Economic Opportunity and the federal organization. Since the Ulster County Community Action Committee, Inc., is the clearing house for anti-poverty action, the conference was being addressed by the high officials of the General Services Administration (GSA), Small Business Administration (SBA), the Federal Home and Urban Development (HUD), the Farmer's Home Administration (FHA) and the New York Job Development Authority.

The funding of the Ulster County Anti-Poverty program is now awaiting the final appropriations by Congress. Jorgensen hopes to bring some definite news on these important programs on his return. An appropriation now being considered by the Ulster County Board of Supervisors will furnish part of the 10 per cent local share required by federal law.

Meyers said "these opportunities for our staff to update their knowledge and experience in a broad context is very useful." He recalled Mrs. Jenny Krevolin, associate director and Al Brown, Community Organizer for Rondout, had spent a recent week at the Community Progress Institute at New Haven studying the program for its implication in Ulster County. Mrs. Mitzie Turkfeld, community organizer in Wawarsing is currently attending similar sessions in New Haven.

Prior to the performance, Oriental articles will be on display. Included in the display will be a seven foot model of a Chinese junk and if you should happen to see a dragon walking around, that's part of the display also and not some halloween prankster. Added features of the show will be Mrs. Helen Chen Ling, of Kingston, who will sing and play songs of China. Also performing on the piano will be Dr. Ninevah Aranas, of New York City, who will play "A Tribute to Midnite" a lovely Philippine classic. Miss Shizue Nomoto, who is attending Poughkeepsie High School, will display the great flexibility of the koto by playing two selections for the delight of the audience.

Mrs. Bushnell, since 1957, has represented and presented the Association before women's groups and other organizations throughout the country in informing them of NAM programs and policies in the principal fields of industrial relations, industrial environment, education, government finance, international affairs and public affairs.

Prior to her NAM service, Mrs. Bushnell served the American Cancer Society in a similar function. During World War II, she was with the Office of Strategic Services in Washington and New York, and was later head of U. S. Ordnance Information Service. Surgery Saves Hemophiliac at Albany Center

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Surgeons at Albany Medical Center Hospital have performed a successful brain operation on a 2-year-old boy who has hemophilia — a disease that causes failure of blood to clot.

The child, Walter Tirado, son of Mr. and Mrs. Juan Tirado of Amsterdam, was treated under a procedure for hemophiliacs first used at the hospital last July.

Hospital spokesmen said he was one of the few hemophiliacs to survive such a delicate operation.

Walter's older brother, Felix, 9, who was also a hemophiliac, died last March after undergoing brain surgery.

The technique involves infusions of blood concentrates aimed at aiding coagulation of the blood.

Shortly after the child was admitted to the hospital late last month he went into a coma and doctors determined he had suffered a brain hemorrhage.

The infusion of the blood concentrates was performed before and after the surgery.

The child was released from the hospital Friday.

Colombia Moves To Curb Growth

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—Colombia's population has exploded from 12 million to 18.4 million in the last 10 years and the government has decided to take steps to control the growth.

President Carlos Lleras Restrepo, fulfilling an election promise plans a nationwide program to provide birth control information, particularly to peasant families in the rural areas.

He has asked for economic aid from the United States and technical assistance from the Population Council and from the Ford Foundation to launch the program.

Reliable sources said the government has received approval for the program from the Roman Catholic Church. They said the Church, which has strongly opposed control of the birth rate in the past, has softened its position in light of the social and economic problems caused by the high birth rate.

Hold First Funeral In Coal Slide Tragedy

ABERFAN, Wales (AP)—A tiny coffin with a single spray of red roses was carried through the rubble-strewn streets of Aberfan today. Miners stood with bowed heads, some openly weeping.

It was the first funeral of a child victim of the coal slag that swamped Aberfan's village school and a row of houses Friday with the feared loss of 200 lives, most of them children.

Rescue work was halted as the coffin containing the body of Randolph Tudor, 10, was taken from a white-washed miner's cottage and placed in a cortege of three cars headed by two police motorcycle outriders.

The village fell silent, traffic was stopped.

In London, Buckingham Palace announced Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip will visit Aberfan on Saturday.

After the procession moved out of sight, rescue teams threw themselves back into the effort of clearing the devastation.

So far, 145 bodies have been recovered, nearly all children. Police said they believed another 46 children were dead beneath the mountain of black sludge.

Plans were made for a mass funeral of 60 children Thursday.

Organizing the funeral was the Rev. Kenneth Hayes, whose 9-year-old son will be among those laid to rest.

Taxpayers Call Possibility Of New Law 'Objectionable'

Woodstock Township Taxpayers Association at a well attended public meeting, despite inclement weather, at the Town Hall, Woodstock, last week, adopted a resolution recommending that a proposed act to amend the real property tax law, be defeated in the State Legislature.

Nathaniel O. Robinson, a director, moved adoption of the resolution, which was seconded by Arthur P. Shepard, treasurer, and unanimously approved by membership vote. After full and free discussion, the proposed new law was found to place in the hands of local legislators in small towns undesirable power to appoint a single assessor and board of assessment review for six and five year terms, respectively, who would still hold office after the tenure of office of the appointing authorities had expired. A substantially heavier local tax burden was foreseen, if small towns had to support a single assessor with staff and three-to-five member board of assessment review. The proposed law gives the small town the option to retain elective assessors, who are elected only to two-year terms under existing law. This option could be exercised only by a cumbersome procedure by petition. It was also felt that once the single assessor was appointed, it would be extremely difficult, if not impossible, to remove him.

Vice-president Chester Miller said: The proposed law would give too much power to the political party that happened to be in office. I fear that the single assessor could become a weapon to bring pressure on the town taxpayers to favor the party who appointed him. Miller further pointed out that this danger would exist for six years even though the town administration might change in two years.

President Walter H. Schulman discussed the salient features of the proposed changes relating to assessors and assessment procedures. He emphasized that WTTA was approaching the questions raised without any intention to refer in any personal way to the currently acting officials and assessors of Woodstock. Schulman was warmly applauded when he expressed his personal view that as a matter of common sense for protection against possible irregularities by individual assessors, it was better to have three assessors, who might at least argue with each other and arrive at a majority decision assessment, regardless of whatever personal motivations were involved. "All that we expect of our assessors is that they be men of reasonable business experience," he said, "and that they approach their work with integrity and the endeavor to make assessments fairly. We know that they have not been specially trained to be assessors, but from experience we know that an assessment that a taxpayer considers too high can be reduced and assessments have been reduced."

WAA Promises Gala Yule Show

The Gallery on the Green's announcement of its annual Christmas Show is always greeted with enthusiasm by both the artists and the public. Last year's event was one of the highlights of the winter season. In a rare example of true holiday spirit, there is a price limit of $150 on all works of art, and some may go for as little as the $5 minimum. This is one show where quality has little to do with price, and bargains abound.

It may seem early to bring up the idea of Christmas, but artists need warning to unlimber winter-stiffened wrists and elbows, and to work some of the paint out of encrusted brushes. And people might need some time to realize how a difficult gift problem may be solved by a fine painting or sculpture at a price anyone can afford.

The Christmas Show has always been a full spectrum of Woodstock's art. The best bargains will go in the first hours of the show, so plan to come to the opening party on Dec. 10. The show will run until Friday evening, Dec. 23.

Park East Praises Serneaux-Gregori

The eighth one-man show of Woodstock artist Charlot Serneaux-Gregori is being held at the Crespi Gallery, 1045 Madison Avenue at 79th Street, New York City, through Nov. 1.

Well-known in the contemporary art world, the artist works in monochromatic tonality; often concerns herself with moody studies of heads and semi-abstract works made up of the bold shapes of facial features.

In reviewing the Crespi show, a New York critic praises "a haunting work of three melancholy shadow heads in muted and atmospheric tones, and a Fragment of Evolution, a study of heads of many expressions, in brighter tones of greens, blues and yellows."

The publication, Part East, takes note of "a quite exciting work with a flickering warmly toned background suggesting the lush foliage of a jungle landscape and punctuated by a finely done bright sunlit tropical tree." Part East also said the feeling of a collection as a whole is quite penetratingly haunting.

Sketch Class Set Thursdays

Response to the Woodstock Artists Association's appeal for artists in favor of a sketch class this winter has been very good. Popular demand favors Thursdays this winter, but the day is still open.

The class will aim for variety this year, with interesting poses of both long and short duration. New models are being sought to augment the list of favorites. It is gratifying to find such a high ratio of area residents who will brave the dark and cold of a winter evening for the sake of art. But at the rate names are coming in, only four or five more artists are needed to insure the class.

Will those artists (and models) who have not yet contacted Ethel Norton Howe at 129 Tinker Street, Woodstock, please do so soon. The association is hoping to start classes on Thursday, Nov. 3, and time is running short.

Van Bramer Here For 3 Rallies

Glenn C. Van Bramer followed the campaign trail which was led him through two counties into Woodstock Saturday. A Democratic candidate, he is seeking to become one of three delegates to the Constitutional Convention next spring in Albany from Dutchess and Ulster Counties.

"The more I campaign for an office in State government," Van Bramer said here, "the more I realize the need for a better method of selecting our statewide candidates."

Speaking at three outdoor rallies two in the village and one in Bearsville, Van Bramer pledged to support a change in the present State constitution which prohibits statewide primaries. "There is a disturbing feeling this year everywhere I go," he said, "that all the major political parties are running candidates for governor who do not enjoy the complete support of their parties."

He said that through a statewide primary, all registered voters would have an equal voice in the selection of candidates, rather than putting these important decisions in the hands of a few men.

Miss Evelyn Stone, chairman of the Official Board of the church, announced the sale for the benefit of the church treasury. Items on sale will consist of handmade gifts, cards, and other merchandise designed to afford a selection of Yuletide gift items at inexpensive prices.

SIGNS PROCLAMATION — Woodstock supervisor William R. West Jr. last Friday signed a proclamation at the Woodstock Muscular Dystrophy Headquarters at the Woodstock branch office of Rondout National Bank, designating Friday, Nov. 4, as the opening date of the Muscular Dystrophy drive in Woodstock. The proclamation noted that the Thanksgiving season, Nov. 1-30, marks the annual appeal of the MD Association for public support in its fight against this relentlessly crippling disease, whose cause and cure are unknown and whose victims number some 200,000 U.S. citizens, the majority of whom are children. As West proclaimed November as Muscular Dystrophy Month here and Nov. 4 as Muscular Dystrophy Day, he urged all citizens of the community to give full support to the work of the MD Association, which offers comfort, hope, patient care and research to MD victims. Woodstockers may contribute by giving donations to teenagers of the Woodstock Youth Center and other volunteer children who will conduct a house-to-house canvass and supermarket parking lot drive on Saturday, Nov. 5. Contributions may also be made through checks to the John Collins Jr. Memorial MD Fund, Rondout National Bank, Woodstock.

Paramount's 50 Year Career Ends In Texas Merger

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — After 50 years as one of the film industry's companies, Paramount Pictures has ceased to exist as a corporate entity.

Last week Paramount was withdrawn from the New York Stock Exchange trading, its final standing at 76%. Stockholders had voted to merge the movie concern with the Texas-based Gulf and Western Industries.

Industry Trend

The merger followed an industry trend. Entertainment companies have been seeking the stability of having immense corporations as parent concerns, thus avoiding the periodic depressions that can come with changes in public tastes.

The American Broadcasting Co.-Paramount Theaters was absorbed this year by International Telephone and Telegraph. United Artists, nearly merged with Consolidated Foods and is now exploring a combination with Transamerica Corp., a California insurance and financing giant.

What changes will the new affiliation bring to Paramount? That is the present concern of studio workers. The production company has been hampered in the past three years by a debilitating proxy war which was waged and lost by financier Herbert J. Siegel and Broadway producer Ernest H. Martin.

Started in 1916

The first half-century of Paramount's history provided many excellent years and, especially during the depression, some bad ones. The company was founded July 19, 1916, with its original merger — Adolph Zukor's Famous Players and the Jesse Lasky Company. In the following year, 12 other production companies were added.

Zukor believed in bigness, and in 1919 he started buying up theaters to provide showcases for the Famous Players-Lasky films. He also brought forth films on an epic scale — "The Covered Wagon," Cecil B. DeMille's "The Ten Commandments" (1923). Zukor paid his top stars handsomely: Mary Pickford was given a million dollars a year to remain with the company.

Paramount, as it has been called since 1927, fell on bad times during the depression. The weight of empty theaters carried the corporation down to bankruptcy in 1933. Reorganization in 1935 revived Paramount and the company began its most glorious years.

"If it's a Paramount picture, it's the best show in town" — so said the brave motto, and often it was true. The studio specialized in smart, escapist entertainment during the late 1930s and through the 1940s. Bing Crosby and Bob Hope set the tone for the Paramount product and the atmosphere at the studio breezy, informal, fun-filled.

In 1949, the federal government directed Paramount and other companies to separate production from exhibition, with the ABC network. The studio continued to thrive, especially on the later epics of Cecil B. DeMille. But the declining market and internal problems brought a decline in Paramount's fortunes. The industry hopes the trend can be reversed by the infusion of new capital from Gulf and Western.

Champ Chicken Eater

GAINESVILLE, Ga. (AP) — Curtis Tate successfully defended his title of world champion chicken eater recently by downing 37 pieces of fried chicken—a total of 13½ pounds.

The contest climaxed poultry festival week at Gainesville, which claims to be the broiler capital of the world.

Tate, who weighs 255 pounds, won $100 and a tucket of fried chicken.

Clothing Drive For Midtown Hospital Praised

In response to an announcement made by the Ulster County Association for Mental Health earlier this year, which appeared in several local newspapers, many people have sent nearly new clothing for a special therapeutic program at Midtown State Hospital. A few months back, Emily Borestein, director of Volunteer Services at the hospital reported that some really beautiful articles had been taken to the hospital by a number of persons who said that they had heard of the request through the Ulster County Association for Mental Health.

Mrs. Phoebe Aebertle, co-supervisor of Midtown Halfway House in Kingston reports that many packages have been left at the Halfway House for transporting to the hospital at Midtown for the same project.

However, Mrs. Borestein has been ill for a number of months this past summer, and upon returning to her position at the hospital recently, she found that much sorting and labeling of the donated clothing was needed, and for the time being has asked that no more clothing be sent.

The Ulster County Association thanked all those who have so thoughtfully sent clothing in the past. It will publicize the need for clothing again, as soon as it is known.

Sillin Criticizes

to disburse such money for projects.

"Authority to borrow money and issue bonds."

"Authority to tax beneficiaries."

"Authority to acquire and administer lands and interests in lands and to sell or lease interests in lands or facilities to government agencies and to authorize non-government entities."

"Authority to hold hearings and take testimony under oath."

"Authority to collect fees and charges and to disburse them in furtherance of the compact."

"Authority to employ staff, enter into contracts, and perform other related administrative functions."

Sillin pointed out that, so far as he knew, the proposal had been developed without consultation with either state or local officials, or with the people of the region whose lives would be vitally affected. The proposal, which includes the power of taxation, land acquisition, borrowing of money and issuance of bonds and zoning, makes no mention of a review process, or the checks and balances that exist at every level of government.

Sillin admitted that environmental mistakes had been made in the past, and that governmental institutions do need to be re-examined in the light of changing times.

"Our objective," Sillin said, "should be to improve and strengthen local and state governments rather than to resort to proposals that are contrary to the basic political philosophies on which our republic has developed."

"Planning, as I envision it, is essentially an instrument for strengthening democracy and should continue to rest on the consent of the government."

But Sillin did not limit himself to attacking the Udall proposal. He placed himself squarely among responsible conservationists by saying, "lest there be any question in your mind, I have supported both President Johnson and Governor Rockefeller in their efforts to create a more beautiful nation and state, and want to be identified with those who are concerned with rebuilding our older cities, cleaning up our rivers and air, developing additional parks and areas of recreation, and with those who seek to develop the countryside in a manner which would preserve its scenic values."

He outlined as an alternative to proposals, like the Udall report, plans similar to "Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress," a non-partisan, non-profit, voluntary regional planning, research and development organizations.

Serving the seven counties of the Mid-Hudson Valley, "Pattern for Progress" encompasses all factors in the communities in that area — government, education, business, and industry, labor, conservation, agriculture, cultural interests, and the social services.

The organization grew out of the conviction that the voice of citizens, backed by objective, sound research and planning, would help government make decisions and policies responsive to the region's needs and at the same time would be most likely to enhance regional opportunities for optimum social, economic, and scenic development.

In contrast to proposals like those made in the Udall report, Sillin cited Pattern for Progress as "An example of a positive effort by private enterprise, working within the framework of our democratic society, to assist in the planning process."

Nab Phony UFO

TOTOWA, N.J. (AP) — Police caught an unidentified Flying Object here Monday night.

The thing floated in the air and gave off an eerie glow. Police said they received numerous calls from residents before they finally caught the object.

It was a cluster of helium-filled balloons tied to an aluminum foil ball into which a lighted candle had been placed.

Officers said they traced the launching of the UFO to a group of teen-agers.

SENSATION AT WARDS—This 8-foot Boa Constrictor, flown directly from South America to the Dutchess County Airport, caused quite a sensation at Montgomery Ward's Kingston store recently. Thousands of area residents viewed the big reptile and a pair of new-born Boas which were enclosed in a glass cage. The babies were only three feet long. Holding the snake are left to right, Edward Caruso, who brought the snakes from Poughkeepsie to Kingston; William Zacker, the snakes' caretaker; John Fridling, who has a large collection of snakes; and Peter Montford of Rhinebeck to Montford who has the proper facilities to care for them. Butter Prices

NEW YORK (AP) — (USDA) — Butter offerings ample. Demand fair.

Wholesale prices in bulk cartons: mery, 93 score (AA) 67½-68½ cents, 92 score (A) 61½-62½.

Cheese steady. Prices unchanged.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices drifted off on balance early this afternoon in a drab performance. Trading was moderate.

The over-all loss was unimportant but there was a fairly wide assortment of big blocks sold at lower prices.

Caution prevailed. Wall Street sentiment was dampened considerably by the mid-October decline in new-car sales and by a continuing drop-off in steel production.

General Motors, which showed the sharpest percentage decline in car sales, sank more than a point.

Ford (ex dividend) and Chrysler erased all or most of early small losses.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 4 at 284.2 with industrials off 1.0, rails off .4 and utilities up .2.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 2.68 at 785.07.

Glamor stocks continued to back away. Whatever investment interest existed seemed scattered among more conservative blue chips.

Texasco was a fractional gainer, responding to news of its raised dividend and an extra dividend.

Du Pont, after a sluggish start, showed a gain of more than 2 points. AT&T had a fractional gain. U.S. Steel, Anaconda and Kennecott steadied after early softness.

IBM, down more than 2, shaved a point from its worst early loss. Raytheon dipped nearly 2.

SCM Corp. lost 1 at 46 on a block of 50,000 shares. Xerox fell 1½ to 154 on a block of 15,000 shares.

Persuasion Preferred

DALLAS (AP) — "Christianity will win or lose by out-thinking the heretics, not by burning them," says Methodist theologian, the Rev. Dr. Albert C. Outler.

MARLBETOWN GOES OPEN—Headquarters for the Marlborough Republican Party opened recently in High Falls. Among those on hand for the formal opening were second round (1-1) Councilman Edwin B. Shumate, Town Chairman John L. Smith, Superintendent of Highways and town chairman for Hamilton Fish Jr., Congressional candidate, Jessie Williams and Jessie L. Hunt, Marguerite Quick, Pearl Davis, Judge Edmund B. Ruffner, Katherine Leonard, Supervisor Roy J. Webber, Town Clerk Lillian K. Quick and Committeeman Clyde Lyons. Lulu Hoertel, also on hand, is not shown. The smaller "politics" include Lisa Ann McCordie, Wanda Visconti and Johnny Visconti.

Master Spy Blake Had Comfortable Life, But Escaped

By COLIN FROST

LONDON (AP) — While security men hunted master spy George Blake today, former fellow prisoners talked of the comfortable life he led in Wormwood Scrubs — the Ritz hotel of British jails.

Blake was held in the jail's D-block with about 200 other first offenders serving long terms. He apparently was popular both with other prisoners and the prison staff.

About half the prisoners in the block were murderers, but of the type prison psychologists believe will never kill again. Many of the rest were professional men who ran afoul of the law.

As long-term prisoners, they were allowed considerable privileges and supervision was light. When Blake escaped, only two guards were on duty in D-block, the cell doors were unlocked and the convicts were enjoying their evening "association" — a period when they may visit each other's cells.

Blake, rated one of the most menacing Soviet spies of the cold war, went over the wall Saturday after serving five years of a 42-year term — the longest sentence in modern English history.

Detectives held little hope he will be captured. They believe he is in Eastern Europe or perhaps on a Soviet traveler heading back to his Soviet masters.

Blake was the eighth escapee from Wormwood Scrubs this year. The Prison Officers Association says it is so understaffed that guards get only one day off in three weeks.

Blake, now 44, admitted at his trial that in nine years as a British Foreign Office official he passed on to the Russians every secret document that came into his hands. As a result, the whole Western intelligence net in the Middle East and Eastern Europe fell to pieces.

then four-months pregnant with their second child. However, the U.S. Supreme Court last spring ordered a new trial because of what it termed irregularities within and without the courtroom during the original hearing.

Sheppard's second wife, blonde Ariane Tobjen-Johann, 36, reportedly was planning to return to Cleveland later this week from Dusseldorf, Germany, where she has been visiting relatives. A German-born divorcee, she married Sheppard in 1964 after his release on bond from Ohio State Penitentiary, where he had served nine years of a life sentence.

Originally, Sheppard was tried for first-degree murder, with death in the electric chair the maximum penalty. That charge was ruled out by the second-degree conviction.

During his first trial, the osteopath—later suspending his practice after his conviction—spent three days on the witness stand.

He testified that a bushy-haired stranger invaded his lakefront home in suburban Bay Village, July 4, 1954, killed his wife, then overpowered him and knocked him unconscious.

The state called Sheppard the killer, claiming he and his wife quarreled over his attentions to another woman.

At the outset of the retrial, Bailey hinted that Sheppard may not testify in his own behalf this time, or even offer any defense at all beyond his plea of innocent.

Many legislators believe that these mounting costs, coupled with steadily climbing Viet Nam war expenditures and pressures to slow down the economy, will require Johnson to ask for an across-the-board income tax boost next year.

For example, the demonstration cities plan to rebuild large areas of urban blight carried only a $12-million price tag for planning funds in the present fiscal year.

But if authorized $400 million for the spending year beginning next July 1.

The 90th Congress must grapple with a budget full of programs enacted in 1965 and 1966 at little initial cost but with bills which begin to come due next year.

Many legislators believe that these mounting costs, coupled with steadily climbing Viet Nam war expenditures and pressures to slow down the economy, will require Johnson to ask for an across-the-board income tax boost next year.

For example, the demonstration cities plan to rebuild large areas of urban blight carried only a $12-million price tag for planning funds in the present fiscal year.

But if authorized $400 million for the spending year beginning next July 1.

Warns Malaysian Leftists Against Johnson Protests

By TONY ESCODA

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (P) — Prime Minister Abdul Rahman warned Malaysian leftists today against staging anti-U.S. demonstrations when President Johnson arrives Sunday for a 21-hour visit.

Rahman, speaking during debate in Parliament on Johnson's visit, gave a flat "no" to a request by a leader of the opposition Labor party to stage a peaceful protest at the airport during the President's arrival.

The agreement on troop withdrawal — clearly a new bid to interest the Communist side in the Vietnamese war in talking peace — was the key new element in the communique.

The "Goals of Freedom" declaration stated:

"We, the seven nations gathered in Manila, declared our unity, our resolve, and our purpose in seeking together the goals of freedom in Viet Nam and in the Asian and Pacific areas. They are:

"1. To be free from aggression.

"2. To conquer hunger, illiteracy, and disease.

"3. To build a region of security, order, and progress.

"4. To seek reconciliation and peace throughout Asia and the Pacific."

In their Declaration on Peace and Progress, the leaders agreed on these "principles on which we base our hopes for future peace and progress in the Asian and Pacific regions."

Peace, Progress Declaration

1. "Aggression must not succeed."

2. "We must break the bonds of poverty, illiteracy and disease."

3. "We must strengthen economic, social and cultural cooperation within the Asian and Pacific region."

4. "We must seek reconciliation and peace throughout Asia."

The Saigon government said it will begin holding elections at the village and hamlet level at the beginning of next year.

Furthermore, the Vietnamese government declared its determination "to open all doors to those Vietnamese who have been misled or coerced into casting their lot with the Viet Cong."

Must Continue Search

As for the search for a peace settlement, the seven government heads noted that Hanoi still has shown no signs of taking any toward peace either by action or by entering into discussions or negotiations.

Nevertheless the document said, the allied nations "agreed that the search for peace must continue."

In this connection, the South Vietnamese government went on record as welcoming "any initiative that will lead to an end to hostilities, preserve the independence of South Viet Nam, and protect the right to choose their own way of life."

In the section on removal of allied military forces, the communique said the South Vietnamese people—mindful of their experience since partition of the country 12 years ago—insist that many negotiations leading to an end of hostilities incorporate effective international guarantees."

Viets Open Minded

The South Vietnamese said they are open minded as to how such guarantees can be applied and made effective.

The communique said the Vietnamese will ask their allies to remove forces and evacuate their bases "as the military and

Investment Advisor & Analyst
Specialist Indispensable For an Orderly Market

Q) "I read recently that the 'specialists' are in a good position. Who are these specialists?"

A) They are special broker-dealers on the floor of the stock exchange executing orders for other brokers and trading for their own accounts. They do not buy and sell for individual investors. They deal exclusively in a few selected stocks—actively traded issues—to which they have been assigned. In practice, they build up inventories in these shares, buying for their own account if the market is falling. When the market reverses itself and buy orders exceed sell orders, they are usually able to fill these from their inventories.

If in normal trading too wide a gap should develop between bid and ask prices, they trade on their own account to maintain an orderly market. They are men of substantial means, approved for their work by the exchange only if they can personally finance sizable inventories should the need arise. They must also be men of sound judgment—skilled and experienced traders. If you have ever wondered who buys all the stock released in a sharp, broad decline, the specialists are there to absorb a considerable portion of the liquidation.

Q) "A widow, I would like your advice on buying some stocks while I can get as much as seven per cent on my money. I'm interested only in a safe, substantial return." E. S., M. N.

A) It is time to start shopping for bargains in quality stocks even though the market might drop again. To utilize a reasonable buying range is smarter than to wait for an exact point derived from technical calculations. You are correct in thinking your capital can be put to work around seven per cent in relatively safe situations.

Nam can handle its own insubversive forces of North Vietnam problem, these sources said.

Would Take Six Months

They added it would take six months, by realistic reckoning, to pull out the huge U.S. and allied forces now numbering 370,000.

The communique and two companion declaration on "Goals of Freedom" for Asia and the Pacific were signed at a televised ceremony in the Malacanang Palace by the American President, chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu of South Viet Nam, President Chung Hee Park of South Korea, prime Minister Harold Holt of Australia, Prime Minister Keith Holyoake of New Zealand, Premier Thanom Kittikachorn of Thailand, and the conference host, President Ferdinand E. Health Club Hosts Telephone Employees

Twenty three New York Telephone operators were guests of the Women's Health Club of the local "Y" this week. The visit, arranged by Mrs. John Walkie, club chairman, gave the young women an opportunity to take part in a typical evening of activities.

Exercise occupied the first portion of the diversified programs. The exercises led by Mrs. Linda Farrow, Women's Health Club director, last approximately 45 minutes and are designed to help ladies stay slim and trim. Perhaps the most enjoyable part of the evening was the hour spent in the pool. Here members can swim on their own or can receive expert instruction from Mrs. Farrow, an outstanding teacher.

The last hour of a typical evening was spent relaxing in the Sauna Bath and socializing with other members while making use of the lounge facilities in the combination locker room and lounge room. Hairdressers are available for the use of all Health Club members also.

The Club plans to invite female employees of other business and industries of the Ulster County area to be their guests in the near future. The YMCA is an agency of the Ulster County Community Chest and is located at 507 Broadway in Kingston.

DAUGHTER'S DATE A MODEL OF PROPRIETY

Dear Mrs. Post: As parents of a 19-year-old daughter, we are confronted with a problem we would appreciate your opinion on. Our daughter has returned to a college fifty miles from home. She has been invited to a country-club dance by a young man whom she has been dating for the past six months. The young man's parents and sister (and escort) will also be attending; in fact, the parents will be driving the two couples to the dance, and home afterwards. Since the party won't be over until too late for our daughter to return to school, her escort's parents (whom she knows) have invited her to stay at their home overnight and return to school the next day.

She has asked our permission to attend this function and be an overnight guest in her friend's home. And we are asking you, would her staying overnight be in questionable taste, or acceptable to today's social standards? — Violet Callery

Dear Mrs. Callery: The date, as you describe it, could hardly be considered in questionable taste; in fact I can't imagine a more proper solution to your daughter's problem. She will be chaperoned by responsible adults the entire time, even going to and from the party. Let her go, by all means, and I hope she has a wonderful time.

Condolence Notes

Requiescat

Dear Mrs. Post: When a person has a death in the family and friends send sympathy cards, it is proper for the family to acknowledge the cards by sending each person a thank you note. Some say it is only necessary to acknowledge flowers. Mass cards or memorial cards, and others say all sympathy cards should be acknowledged. Please advise which is proper. — Jean K.

Dear Jean: All senders of hand-written notes, Mass cards and memorial cards should be thanked by a note from a member of the family. Printed sympathy cards do not, however, require acknowledgment.

Winter White A Welcome Change

Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to settle a dispute about when to stop wearing white clothes and patent leather shoes. Is it advisable to wear them during the winter months? — Audrey Larus.

Dear Miss Larus: For some reason I don't understand, it is the accepted custom to stop wearing patent leather shoes when cold weather arrives, or winter clothes come out of the closet.

White clothes are a different matter. "Winter white," wool or any heavy material, is very popular and I like it. It's a refreshing change from the tendency to wear dark colors on dark days.

Dear Abby . . .

Alcoholism — A Form of Mental Illness

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Why do so many people—including YOU—defend drunks by giving them high-sounding titles like "alcoholics"? And lend further dignity to their weakness by calling it a "disease"? I have actually heard intelligent people say that an alcoholic should not be condemned any more than a victim of polio, diabetes, or heart trouble. Really, now! Alcoholism is not CAUGHT, like measles or mumps, Abby. One must cultivate it.

You are forever harping on how those drunks need "understanding." An I, for one, am sick of it!

AN EX-READER

DEAR EX-READER: You need more information than I can give you here. In a nut shell, some can take a drink, or two, or six, and stop. Others need only to sniff the cork and they are powerless to stop drinking until they have lost consciousness—and frequently their jobs, money families, and self-respect as well.

Psychiatrists say that one who is aware that alcohol can destroy him, but drinks anyway, is unconsciously trying to destroy himself. And if THAT isn't a form of mental illness, what is?

DEAR ABBY: Is it true that unmarried gals who are interested in a swinging life should go to Alaska? I hear there are about 50 men for every girl there.

INTERESTED

DEAR INTERESTED: Don't bother. I hear when it's dark enough to park, it's too cold. And when it's warm enough, it's too light.

DEAR ABBY: My 12-year-old son came home from school and told me he was given a questionnaire to fill out and sign. Here are some of the questions he said he was asked to answer: "Do your parents drink? Is there frequent quarreling in your home? Has anyone in your family ever had psychiatric help?"

I feel that these questions do not pertain to my son's school life, and the whole questionnaire was out of order.

I don't want to get my child in trouble by making a big stink, but I want to know what can be done about a situation like this.

HIS MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I would first ask my son's teacher who was responsible for the questionnaire. Then I would inform as to its purpose, and to what use the information would be put.

Having learned that, if I still felt the questionnaire was out of order, I would complain to the appropriate authorities, making as big a "stink" as was necessary to protect my privacy.

CONFIDENTIAL TO BRIDGE EXPERT: Even if you are a better bridge player than your husband, try to conceal it when possible. Any woman who is smarter than her husband should not be dumb enough to show it.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1.00 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069.

Mother Dialing To Build Support For Store Boycott

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP) — "A year ago, $16 could buy three bags of groceries," Mrs. Ann Toland says, "and today that amount might fill only one bag."

As a result, the 27-year-old mother of two said she decided to work her way through the city telephone directory to drum up support for a boycott of supermarkets.

On E's Now

"I've been making phone calls since Thursday," Mrs. Toland said Monday. "I've gotten through the 'Es,' and I'm starting on the 'Fs.'"

She said most of the people she contacted "have been absolutely wonderful. They say they've been waiting for someone to call and get this thing going here."

Mrs. Toland predicted that, by Wednesday noon, when picketing is to begin, at least 100 persons would join her and six friends who have helped her with the campaign.

Boycotts also have been scheduled in Glens Falls Wednesday and in the Buffalo suburb of Williamsville Saturday.

Members of the Buffalo-area group, "Women on the War-path," said their activities would begin today with a refusal to buy eggs.

Gain Other Support

In addition, they said, they had gained support from housewives in the western New York communities of Angola, Elma, West Seneca and North Tonawanda.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Toland described her appeal by telephone as "very exciting," although "I'm getting very tired of dialing."

Mrs. Toland and Mrs. Ralph E. Mann, 26, who is organizing a similar boycott in Glens Falls, say they will urge shoppers to buy food at small, independent stores until supermarket chains lower what Mrs. Toland calls "ridiculous" prices.

Both predict that chain-store managers will have to cut prices when perishables begin to "rot."

Food boycotts began a week ago in Denver and have spread rapidly across the country, although the initial action in the Rocky Mountain city appeared to have ended Monday.

MD Parley Report

Find Some Diet Nutrients Could Combat Diseases

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

HARRIMAN, N.Y. (AP) — Underfed body cells, crying for special nutrients not contained in ordinary diets may be the cause of all apparently non-infectious diseases such as muscular dystrophy, a University of Texas Scientist said today.

And, to combat them would require revising tailor-made diets to fit what conceivably are the inborn, highly-distinctive nutritional needs of each individual, said Dr. Roger J. Williams of Austin, Tex.

Cites New Concept
He described this "genetrophic" (heredity-nutrition) concept for treating some of mankind's most puzzling diseases in addressing an international conference on muscular dystrophy and related disorders.

The conference is being held at mountainous Arden House, the "Harriman campus" of Columbia University, under the sponsorship of the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America.

Dr. Williams told the conference, which includes delegates from several Iron Curtain countries, "There is much on which to base postulates that nutritional inadequacies, reaching down to the cellular level should be taken into consideration as a possible cause of any disease, hereditary or otherwise, which is not understood in terms of infection. It is interesting to note in this connection means 'muscle with bad nutrition.'"

Urges Research
He said: "The genetrophic approach to metabolic diseases suggests that medical science should replace a substantial part of their search for drugs...by a search for nutrients or combinations of them which will get to the roots of these diseases. These roots...may lie in the inheritance of the individual whose aberrant needs may not be satisfied by their diets."

Williams also said medical science has long neglected to explore sufficiently what he termed "inborn resistances" in most individuals to such major diseases as cancer.

In another talk, Dr. Albert Szent-Gyorgy, a Nobel Prize winner of the Institute for Medical Research, Woods Hole, Mass., said basic research aimed at untangling the mysteries of still-incurable muscular dystrophy and kindred ills is hampered by a shortage of material. He urged that the Muscular Dystrophy Association try to have hospitals preserve muscle tissues from persons who died of such diseases for universities and other research institutions.

Want to Learn

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alumni of Project Head Start have more "thirst for knowledge" than their contemporaries, a study shows, but this can backfire if the youngster has a poor kindergarten teacher.

Results released Monday followed up on 179 kindergarten teachers who had taken Head Start courses under the anti-poverty agency's program to help disadvantaged children get off to a good start in school.

Findings showed that children who had Head Start "still have greater readiness for learning than their classmates, six months later."

The Head Starters, however, had made no greater educational gains despite their greater "thirst for knowledge."

West Hurley School

A meeting of the West Hurley P-TA was held Tuesday, Oct. 18 in the school cafeteria at 8 p. m.

After the business meeting, Lt. Lemuel Howard of the Kingston Police Department addressed the audience of approximately 100. He spoke about narcotics addiction and showed a film, "Decisions," which portrayed the way in which a teenage girl from a middle-class home became a drug addict. Lt. Howard is sincerely concerned about the threat of drug addiction particularly to young people, and he spends much of his own time addressing groups in an effort to alert them to the dangers and the destructive power of narcotics.

Following the program, refreshments were served by the Hospitality Committee.

The next meeting of the P-TA will be on Monday evening, November 21, at which time Dr. Paul Patterson of the Albany Medical College Department of Pediatrics, and Pediatrician in Chief of the Albany Medical Center, will speak on the topic, "Sex Education."

Following the luncheon and the business session, Robert Johnson introduced the guest speaker, Father Carney, director of Catholic Charities of Ulster County, who spoke on the progress of the plans for a county-wide Home-maker Service. A project that has taken many months of research and planning under the chairman of Mrs. Elizabeth Overbaugh, and is now in the hands of the Catholic Charities. This service Father Carney stated when organized will serve the entire county regardless of race or religion.

The length of the service to a family would be from a few days to three weeks. Employed by the service would be mature women of the average age of 45, trained with programs given by the state and also Rutgers University. Such a program for Ulster County would cost about $29,000 a year.

The Council of Social Agencies is very hopeful that the Home-maker Service will be ready to serve the county in 1967. A discussion period followed Father Carney's talk. Scientists Find Milk Helps Curb Stomach Cancer

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

TOKYO (AP) — Drinking milk seems to help protect some people against stomach cancer, but eating salted pickles every day seems to boost the risk.

These observations come from new studies into the mystery of why people do or do not get stomach cancers and why the risk of stomach cancer generally is coming down.

Diet Is Villain

Cancer researchers suspect a main villain is what people eat, but they agree it is very difficult to blame particular food items or to prove that others are protective.

The puzzle about food was reported today at sessions of the ninth International Cancer Congress.

Japan has one of the highest rate of stomach cancer in the world, along with Chile and Iceland. Dr. Takashi Hirayama of the National Cancer Research Institute told of comparing the diets of stomach cancer patients with Japanese free of the disease.

One main difference was that cancer victims drank less milk, he said. Another was that they used much more salty food, especially salted pickles, a mainstay of the Japanese diet.

People eating a combination of milk, meat and green-yellow vegetables had the lowest incidence or risk, he said.

Declining

The rate of stomach cancer in Japan has started to go down recently, and this may be associated with dramatic changes in the diet, particularly in increased milk consumption, said Dr. Hirayama.

Dr. J.F. Higginson, director of the International Agency for Research on Cancer told of a study in the Kansas City area of the United States trying to pinpoint any particular dietary influence. As with other such studies, no single factor was implicated unequivocally, said Dr. Higginson. A possible relationship between cooked fats and stomach cancers could not be ruled out, Dr. Higginson said, suggesting that this be looked into in larger surveys in Western countries.

Westinghouse Settles With 2 of 4 Unions

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The union with which it is negotiating contracts nationally, resumes bargaining today with the remaining two.

Federal mediator Abe Kaplan said the company offered a revised contract proposal Monday to the AFL-CIO International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW).

A spokesman for the United Electrical Workers (UE), an independent union representing reported no progress in Monday's bargaining.

Joseph Dermody, a UE international representative, called the company's latest offer "unsatisfactory."

He said one of the stumbling blocks was a wage increase for skilled workers, adding that "the latest proposal doesn't cover enough people and the amount offered is insufficient."

Westinghouse settled Saturday with the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE), the largest of the four unions with 40,000 company employees. The Federation Salaried Unions also has come to terms. Its 14,000 members still must ratify the three-year pact.

Mrs. Every Feted For Past Services By Ulster Kiwanis

Mrs. Laura K. Every, former town clerk, was honored by the Town of Ulster Kiwanis at its first annual Recognition Night dinner held at Guido's Restaurant Monday.

Over 100 persons including Kiwanis members, distinguished guests, and Mrs. Every's many friends witnessed an excellent program which culminated in Mrs. Every being awarded a plaque for her contribution towards the town's growth and welfare.

Sidney Spiegel, program chairman for Kiwanis, introduced the speakers who included, Supervisor Ted Musialkiewicz, Bruce Burgher, town co-historian and Lloyd R. LeFever, former town attorney. The speakers told of the town's past and present and the very important part Mrs. Every has added to the town's history.

Because of previous commitments telegrams were received from Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson and Councilman Anthony Cicoria who expressed their regret in being unable to attend but wished to add their well wishes along with those present. One of the many distinguished guests was former State Senator Arthur H. Wicks, a resident of the town who was greeted warmly.

John T. Frederick Jr., president of the Town of Ulster Kiwanis, commenting on the success of Recognition Night, expressed his gratitude to everyone for making this night a memorable one both for the Kiwanis and the Town of Ulster. Frederick added that he hoped "Recognition Night" will grow to be one of the outstanding yearly events in the town.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO

Freeman Sports Editor

This was the Wednesday before the Saturday and Frank Walter, the director of sports information at the U. S. Military Academy, was nearing the end of a happy dilemma. He had twice as many customers as there are seats in Michie Stadium.

Everybody and his uncle in the lower Hudson valley and metropolitan New York area wanted tickets for the Army-Pitt game.

Walter, who operates from his West Point office with the easy grace of prep school headmaster, had been frantically trying to round up some strays that might be floating around.

"Not this time," he said. "The demand for tickets has been absolutely overwhelming and the game was a sellout several weeks ago." Even when the word goes out that a particular game is a "sellout" there are ways of corralling a few here and there. But Army-Pitt in 1966 was something apart.

A visitor from the north hopefully suggested Walter might come up with four strays.

"Why don't you walk across the lobby and check at the ticket window," he suggested. Several strides later the visitor, going along with the gag, was squarely in front of the booth and hopefully asking the attendant: Are there any tickets left for the Pitt game?

To the booth attendant this was a familiar request, repeated over and over for days and days. He was too smartly disciplined to be anything but polite and compassionate. But that "you must be kidding" look that flashed across his face brought the transaction to an abrupt close.

There was nothing in the pre-game ratings to justify such an overwhelming demand for Army-Pitt, so why the crush? Walter, a man with a sharp memory and easy way with reasons and figures, ticked off several.

"For one thing," he observed, "Army-Pitt is traditionally one of the big games in the East. Then this weekend happens to be the best on the football calendar every year."

"The autumn colors run riot around West Point, the Storm King and Bear Mountain and this is truly one of the great scenic spots in the East" he rhapsodized. "There is Indian summer and its still picnic time and, I might add, there is always West Point."

Walter had made the strongest possible case for the surging demands for tickets. The magic of West Point is more than foot-

Isn't it about time that Army dusted off those blueprints for a 55,000 capacity stadium? a visiting journalist asked.

"We need parking first," Walter replied. Parking is a major problem at West Point and this was clearly evident in the hectic traffic jam around Michie Stadium this past weekend.

Whether it's Army-Pitt or Army-Citadel, West Point is a thrilling spectacle anytime. Despite 36 years of trekking to the Point, it remains an enduring thrill. The magic of its lure is eternal.

Tom Cahill, the ruggedly handsome Irishman who was suddenly thrust into the Army coaching spot and has responded with an impressive 5-1 record, put it another way.

"I've been coaching here for nine years and every day at West Point is just as thrilling as my first one."

Touring the vast complex that makes up the military academy, it is not easy to forget that from the long grey line has emerged such as MacArthur, Eisenhower, Pershing, Custer, Lee, Grant and countless others of American military lore.

"I don't have to wear my patriotism on my sleeve," someone observed, "but there are three things that have unfailingly thrilled me over the years. He listed them as (1) a visit to the nation's capital, (2) hearing the national anthem in a foreign country and (3) a visit to West Point (no matter how many times it's repeated)."

Not everybody could get a ticket to Army-Pitt and there will be similar sellouts in the future—until that new stadium materializes. But every American, we feel, should try to visit West Point at least once in a lifetime.

KHS Frosh Win, 20-2

Kingston High's talented frosh gridders make it four straight victories Monday at Port Jervis with a 20-2 win over the home club.

Coach Frank Modica's team, leading by only a 6-2 margin at halftime, stopped a Port bid on the four in the third period and then scored a pair of clinching touchdowns.

The first KHS score came on a 45 yard pass from Ricky Sorenson to Eddie Lee Adams. Port then tackled a player in the end zone for a safety and it was a 6-2 game at the half.

Adams scampered 65 yards to a third quarter score. He broke into the clear at line of scrimmage and simply outraced the secondary.

In the fourth session, Sorenson and Larry Harris combined on a 50 yard pass for the touchdown. Sorenson ran for two extra points.

Modica cited Sorenson, who was 12 for 15 passing, as an offensive star. He also gave praise to Harris, who had eight catches and to Adams. On defense, Harris excelled.

Kingston will entertain the Middletown frosh next Monday.

Kingston lineup — Whitman, Harris, ends; Milano, Clausi, tackles; Primo, White, guards; Polacco, center; Sorenson, quarterback; Byrd and Adams, halfbacks; Kachigan, fullback. Reserves: Carey, Rhodes, Ross, Saehloff, Altomari, McClintan, Owen, Malsenholder, Brady, Devine, Farber, Short, Wynkoop, Assion, Mayone, Bellows, Lupton, Stahl.

Maroon JV Tops Port

Holding the visitors to 13 yards rushing and only 15 yards in the air, the Kingston High jayvees reached the win column Monday with a 15-0 triumph over Port Jervis.

After having a first period touchdown called back because of a mistake on the part of head linesman Ed Palladino, the locals rebounded to score a safety when defensive tackle Mike Rosinski tackled a Port runner in the end zone.

Kingston took the free kick after the safety and moved for a score with Dana Clearwater going over from the five. Quarterback Gene Gruner passed to Ken Williams for the extra point.

In the third period, defensive end Fred Kochura blocked a pass, grabbed it in mid air and scampered 40 yards for a touchdown.

Linebacker Steve Beverly and end Kochura were outstanding for Kingston.

In statistics, the locals had 181 yards rushing and 101 in the air as Gruner completed six of eight tosses. Kingston had 11 first downs and the Porters were limited to three.

In Hawaiian Open

HONOLULU (AP) — Three of the four members of the cast for this year's television World Series of Golf are among the players who will tee off Thursday in the second Hawaiian Open, a $37,000 tour tournament over 72 holes.

The three are Billy Casper, two-time National Open champion, Al Geiberger, who took the PGA title, and Gene Littler, the eventual winner of the $50,000 top prize on the TV show.

Casper rates the favorite in this tournament.

BEING DOUBLE-TEAMED

Peduto Making It Big With Army

WEST POINT — His teammates call him "Dude," but to the opposition he's known as one of the leading ground-gainers on the Army team. His name is John Peduto.

A product of the Staunton, Va., school system, John is now in his third year at the U. S. Military Academy. As a Plebe, he played very little because of an ankle injury. Last year, his first on the varsity, he saw action in seven games, yet the total playing time amounted to just 40 minutes. This fall he's on the starting offensive unit at left halfback, playing a lot more than ever before and gradually making a name for himself in Army football annals.

Peduto came to West Point amidst a shower of accolades, for there was little he didn't excel in while at Robert E. Lee High. He was all-District three years, all-State twice, an honorable mention all-American by two national magazines, and, as a senior, was named the most valuable high school football player in Virginia.

Always Had Speed There was never any question about his speed, for one year he won the state 100-yard dash championship. He used that speed to good advantage in his last high school game, scoring touchdowns six of the seven times he had his hands on the ball.

Football practice had hardly begun his Plebe year when John turned an ankle. He missed the opening game and played only two minutes in the second. After that it was a layoff of another three weeks, but he returned in time to play 11 minutes against Manlius, a traditional rival for the Army Plebes.

Last year John had the unfortunate experience of playing behind Sonny Stowers, and all Stowers did was set an Army record for the most number of carries from scrimmage in a single season. Peduto did manage to get his hands on the ball 13 times for a net gain of 106 yards, or an 8.1 average. Almost half that yardage came on a 51-yard scamper against Rutgers.

Made First Start

It took John just two plays in the season's opener this fall to surpass his total output of a year ago. Midway through the second quarter, with the game scoreless against Kansas State, he shot over right tackle and raced 70 yards to the end zone to put Army in front to stay.

Later, after the Wildcats had narrowed the deficit to 7-6, Peduto scampered 31 yards for a second touchdown which virtually assured victory. On the afternoon he wound up with a net gain of 145 yards in just nine carries.

Through the first four games, Peduto ranks as No. 2 Army rusher and the team leader in kickoff returns with seven. Six of those seven came against Notre Dame and set an Army record.

Bill Meek, who's in charge of the Army offense, has been very impressed with John's desire. "One of his greatest assets is the fact that he works very hard in practice, always with the goal of becoming a good football player. His best football should be ahead of him," concludes Meek.

Peduto has suffered his share of lumps and bruises, but is in the lineup every day. With his desire, his ability, his love of the game working for him, he should be in the lineup for some time to come.

guard for the safety of the boxers or others at ringside, showered the ring with heavy coins and other missiles to show their disapproval.

They calmed down only after Ramon G. Velazquez, executive secretary of the World Boxing Council, reversed Conn and awarded the title to Ramos.

Last Mexican sports fans have never been noted for sportsmanship or regard for the welfare of athletes — especially foreign athletes.

They are fiercely partisan in a nationalistic country.

At Mexico City's new Aztec soccer stadium, built to hold 100,000 persons, there is a deep trench and concrete wall surrounding the playing field. The purpose is obvious — to keep enraged fans from attacking officials or players.

Works Sometimes

It doesn't always work. And it can't stop bottles, rocks or cushions. So there is a tunnel at one end of the field leading to the relative safety of the dressing rooms.

Bull fight fans and boxing fans are perhaps the quickest to show disapproval. A matador who performs badly or fails to show what the fans think is proper courage is facing death from two directions.

At the Mexican Grand Prix auto race Sunday there were many people who paid 10 pesos (80 cents) admission with a main interest that obviously was not just to see good auto racing. They cheered the winner, of course, but went away disappointed because there were no accidents.

Sporting events are always crawling with police and soldiers. But they pay little attention to the crowd — except to occasionally try to throw out a sports writer or participant. They had absolutely no control over the crowd at the fight.

Giants' Rosey Davis Has Knee Operation

NEW YORK (AP) — Rosey Davis, regular defensive right end of the New York Giants, underwent an operation on his torn right knee Monday and will be lost to the club for the rest of the season.

Davis, drafted by Baltimore last year and picked up by the Giants on waivers, was injured in the first period of Sunday's game with the Philadelphia Eagles.

The Giants have lost three players for the season as the result of knee injuries that necessitated operations. Tucker Fredricksen, star rookie fullback of 1965, and linebacker Bill Swain were the others.

Crazy, Crazy

Strip Ortiz of Title; But He'll Defend It

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Carlos Ortiz' world lightweight boxing title is vacant. But Ortiz may defend his crown Nov. 28 in New York against Flash Elorde of the Philippines.

Sounds confusing? It is. The World Boxing Council declared the title vacant Monday night, the latest development in the Saturday night fiasco in which the referee had one winner and the WBC another.

Ortiz, of Puerto Rico, who won the title in 1962, was given a technical knockout by referee Billy Conn because challenger Ultimino (Sugar) Ramos had a badly cut left eye.

The crowd went wild, almost rioted until Ramon Velazquez, executive secretary of the WBC, reversed the decision and declared Ramos — a Mexico City resident — the champion because Ortiz refused to start the fight anew.

Everyone got together for a bit of negotiation-by-press conference at a gymnasium Monday night with these results:

1. The title, as far as the WBC is concerned, is vacant.

2. Ortiz will meet Ramos in the same ring Jan. 29 to determine the champion.

3. Ortiz and his manager, Bill Daly, were suspended for one year and fined $400 each by the boxing commission of the state of Mexico. The El Torero bull ring, where the fight was held, is in the state of Mexico just outside the Mexico City limits.

4. Velazquez and the president of the state commission, Fernando Aldape Barrera, shouted at each other angrily because the WBC doesn't think anyone should be fined.

5. Velazquez would not release Ortiz' purse until he signed a contract for the Jan. 29 fight.

A title fight between Ortiz and Elorde has been announced for Nov. 28 in Madison Square Garden.

The main point that Adalpe Barrera made in levying the fines was that Ortiz had left the ring before a public announcement was made of the winner.

"I made Carlos leave the ring," Daly said. "He wanted to stay in there because he wasn't afraid of Ramos and he had him

rip CFM, 28-0

Onteora Central High's crack Jayvee football team maintained its unbeaten, untied and unscored on status Monday, with a decisive victory over Cardinal Farley at Boiceville.

The twin brothers — Paul and Pete Morey — and Dennis Gale pooled their talents to give the Indians seven points in each quarter. The winners are now 5-0.

Fullback Paul Morey plunged over from the 3 to climax an 80-yard drive for Onteora's first TD and ran over for the extra point in the first quarter.

Halfback Pete Morey scored the next two — a 3-yard trap play in the second quarter and a 70-yard runback of the second half kickoff. The play started with a reverse handoff from his brother, Paul. Gale ran 5 yards for third touchdown in the fourth period and also rushed for the extra point.

Lombardi Bars AP Sportswriter

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Vince Lombardi barred Associated Press sports writer Ken Hartnett from the dressing room and offices of the Green Bay Packers Monday, after Hartnett wrote a story disclosing that fullback Jim Taylor is playing out his option with the defending National Football League champions.

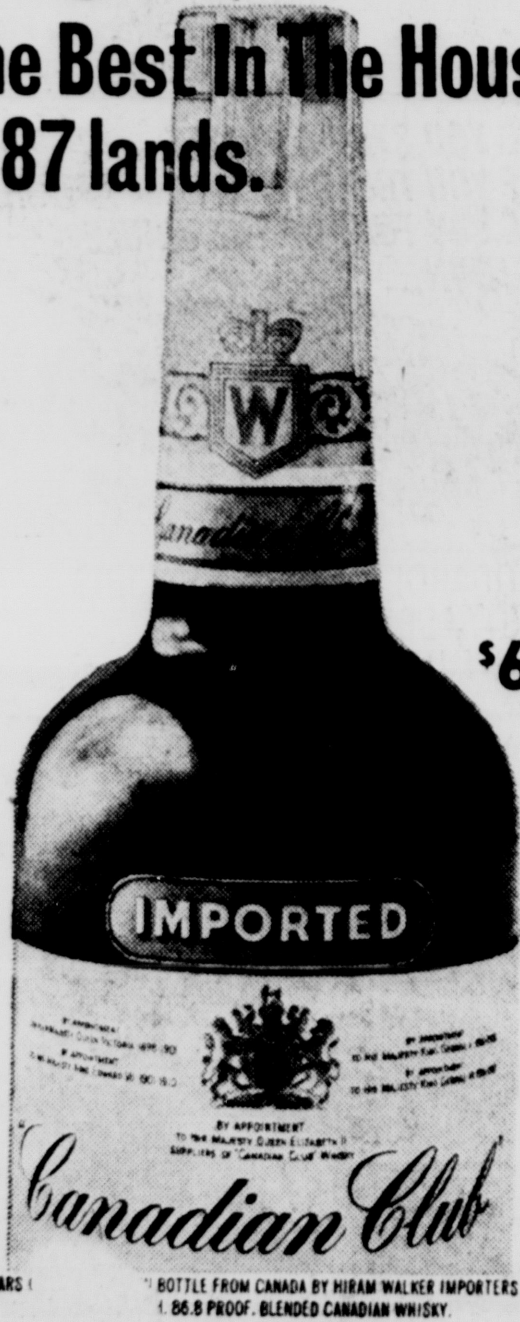

Hartnett quoted the 31-year-old Taylor, the Packers' all-time leading rusher who this season is tied as well for pass receptions, as saying that he and the Packers "just haven't negotiated a contract to my satisfaction."

Hartnett also quoted Taylor as saying that the bonus paid to rookie fullback Jim Grabowski, former Illinois All-American, had a bearing on his salary demands.

The Packers paid Grabowski a reported $250,000 to sign.

U. S. and Japanese Moving Toward Baseball Pact

TOKYO (AP) — The United States and Japanese pro baseball commissioners agreed Monday to draft an agreement to ensure smooth interchanges between the baseball teams of the two countries, including swapping of players or team visits.

The agreement was reached between Toshiyoshi Miyazawa, Japanese baseball commissioner, and William D. Eckert, who is visiting here with the Los Angeles Dodgers at a meeting in a downtown Tokyo restaurant.

The former visiting agreement, expected to be signed shortly, will be a clearer and more dependable version of an existing "understanding" reached between the predecessors of Miyazawa and Eckert.

Needs Wider Approval

The proposed agreement is subject to approval by all baseball clubs of the two countries.

Miyazawa told Japanese newsmen after the meeting that he has at least obtained Eckert's promise to develop the present pattern of simple understanding.

The former visiting agreement, expected to be signed shortly, will be a clearer and more dependable version of an existing "understanding" reached between the predecessors of Miyazawa and Eckert.

Hitherto, the U. S. commissioner has kept such understanding to himself without letting American pro ball owners act up to it, he said.

Eckert said there will be no more trouble about assigning players to each other's country, as happened in the past, if all pro ball clubs of the two nations act up to a formal agreement.

Name L. Zunich As Back of Week

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

Ulysses S. Grant took Richmond 101 years ago ... but the city belongs to Larry Zunich today.

Until last Saturday, everybody had taken Richmond's football team since the middle of the 1964 season. Then Zunich, a hard-working halfback, broke loose for 239 yards as the Spiders trapped Davidson 23-7, ending major college football's longest losing streak at 18 games.

Zunich, who cracked the Southern Conference single-game rushing record and set three school marks, was named Back of the Week today by The Associated Press.

The 21-year-old senior from Portage, Pa., carried the ball 36 times — a Richmond record — and scored on jumps of 68 and 10 yards in what his coach, Frank Jones, called "one of the greatest rushing efforts I have ever seen."

The Spiders' first victory in six 1966 starts left Kansas State with the longest losing streak in the country. Cincinnati, led by bruising fullback Clem Turner, drubbed K-State 28-14 last Saturday, extending the Wildcats' futility string through 17 games.

Turner, a 225-pound senior, bulled for 267 yards in 39 carries, pushing Zunich for Back of the Week honors.

Harvard's Bobby Leo, Texas A&M's Wendell Housley, Colorado State University's Oscar Reed, Notre Dame's Nick Eddy, Michigan State's Bob Apisa and UCLA's Mel Farr also sparked.

Weiss, Miles Make All-ECAC Eleven

NEW YORK (AP) — Quarterbacks Don Weiss of Juniata and Keith Miles of Trinity earned designation today to the Eastern College Athletic Conference Division III weekly All-East football team with outstanding performances last weekend.

Weiss was named Sophomore of the Week for the second time this season after leading Juniata to a 47-16 rout of Lyncemore Saturday. He completed 10 of 14 passes for 140 yards and four touchdowns.

Miles hit on 10 of 21 pass attempts for 207 yards and one touchdown, and also sprinted 71 yards for another touchdown as Trinity whipped St. Lawrence 28-14.

Rich Yeager of Swarthmore, who scored twice and ran for 133 yards against Ursinus, and Alex Nesbitt of Bates, who hoisted 86 yards for one score and ran 11 for another against Middlebury, are the Division III halfbacks. Hank Nettula of Moravian, who carried 30 times for 108 yards against Lebanon Valley, is the fullback nominee.

Others named were ends Brad Pattern of Upsala and Jack Cooper of Cortland, tackles Leonard O'Connor of Colby and Steve Brandsberg of Lebanon Valley, guards Don Cocozza of Wilkes Point and Al Yanko of Wilkes, and Franklin & Marshall center Al Dubois.

Quote of the Week: Bob Pellegrini, one of the Miami Dolphins' assistant coaches was discussing the pass-catching abilities of two rookies, Bob Bruggers of Minnesota and Howard Twilley of Tulsa, and noted that his idea of a lifetime game would match the two.

Said Pellegrini, by way of explaining: "The first one to die would be the first one to miss."

Two More Held In Gridiron Probe

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — The FBI has made two more arrests in its probe of alleged attempts to bribe Louisiana State University football players.

Joseph Lee Nolan, 26, and Samuel F. Comedaux, 26, both of Baton Rouge, were charged Monday by the FBI with trying to influence by bribery the outcome of six LSU games this season.

Last week the FBI arrested 26-year-old Samuel J. Graziano, a barber, on charges he tried to influence the outcome of LSU games by attempting to bribe three players — starters Billy Masters, Gawnin DiBetta and Jim Doussay.

Nolan refused to talk to newsmen.

Court records showed that Nolan is a younger brother of Eugene Nolan, recently convicted in Houston, Tex., on an interstate gambling charge. Eugene Nolan also faced a similar federal charge in Los Angeles.

When Graziano was arrested, Charlie McClendon, the LSU head football coach, said that Doussay, Masters and DiBetta had been cooperating with the FBI for more than a year.

Record Holder Ryun Having Back Trouble

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — The University of Kansas world recordholder in the mile, 15-year-old Jim Ryun, said Monday he has a sore back that is making it tough for him to run.

His back was X-rayed at the Kansas University Medical Center in Kansas City, Kan., Monday. Ryun quoted Dr. Leonard Peltier, orthopedic surgeon at the center, as saying "there was something in my back."

The X-rays are still being studied for the cause, Ryun said he was told. "As long as I keep running I'll have the pain."

He blames the injury on the cross country course which he ran six weeks ago. "The ground is so rough I could have stepped in a hole," Ryun said.

Ryun holds the world record in the mile at 3:51.3.

Super Bowl Set For Rose Bowl

By MIKE NATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The Super Bowl game, the first meeting between the champions of the National and American football leagues, almost certainly will be played in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif.

That's the word in American League circles, where the reasoning goes like this: Despite the fact the National League is investigating three cities — New Orleans, La., Seattle, Wash., and Cincinnati — for its next expansion franchise, the betting is that the Louisiana city becomes NFL territory for the 1967 season.

That would eliminate New Orleans, Pasadena's chief rival for the Super Bowl game, as a neutral site for the NFL-AFL title game.

Quote of the Week: Bob Pellegrini, one of the Miami Dolphins' assistant coaches was discussing the pass-catching abilities of two rookies, Bob Bruggers of Minnesota and Howard Twilley of Tulsa, and noted that his idea of a lifetime game would match the two.

Said Pellegrini, by way of explaining: "The first one to die would be the first one to miss."

Farmer on Hot Seat As Baltimore Coach

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mike Farmer, a defensive specialist, has been put on the defensive after only four games as a coach in the National Basketball Association.

The Baltimore Bullets have lost all four of their starts in the young season—looking extremely inept in the process—and already the local fans are booing Farmer.

A shakeup seems certain, but with a new two-year contract Farmer isn't likely to be dumped so quickly. A trade would be more feasible, and even the players are thinking along this line.

"Our attitude is real bad," said backcourt man Kevin Loughery. "How can it be any other way after losing three in a row by 20 points or more?"

Some observers believe trades already made are the chief reason for the bad start.

Baltimore dealt off Bailey Howell, a high scorer and tough rebounder, to Boston for Mel Counts—a reserve for the Celtics who has never proven himself an NBA regular.

In another deal, the Bullets sent beefy Jim Barnes to Los Angeles for skinny Leroy Ellis, stripping themselves of another rugged rebounder.

Dancer Sets Record For Track Earnings

NEW YORK (AP) — Stanley Dancer the trainer-driver from Egypt, Pa., has exceeded the $1 million mark in purse winnings for the second time in three years, the Harness Racing Institute reported Monday.

Dancer set a record for a single season by increasing his winnings to $1,056,756 Saturday night. His mounts earned $1,051,538 during the 1964 season. No other harness racing driver ever has exceeded $1 million.

Questions Often Asked About Chest Drives

Why is this year's campaign for $299,600, so much greater than the amount of $202,000 raised last year?

This question has been asked many times and it is necessary for all to fully understand. The Ulster County Community Chest goal of $299,600 is for operating expenses for all 13 agencies and the Chest in 1967. It is the composite total and as realistic as possible since the budget committee has reviewed agency budgets.

First of all, the 13 agencies have not received their required funds for many years causing serious restriction in services. Salaries, expenses and cost of living continue to go up. The County population continues to increase. This then is the general reason for the increased amounts. An inquiry to the budget committee provides these details on what additional requirements the agencies have in 1967:

A.R.C.—Clerical and professional salaries; Boys Club—Miscellaneous overall increases, larger building, etc.; Boy Scouts—New District Executive Addition, typist time, salary increases for existing personnel; Cerebral Palsy—Social Worker, salary increases existing personnel, patient expense; Chest — increase in Executive salary, increase in rent, increase in promotional expense; Girl Scouts—Field Director, Day Camp Director, salary increases for existing personnel; Jewish Center—New Program Director; USO — unit for Viet Nam; YMCA—professional salaries adjustment, repairs and maintenance, clerical salaries, maintenance salaries, retirement; YWCA — night hostess, salary increases, maintenance salaries and retirement.

This expression came into popular usage when there used to be wild pigeons at large. Hunters would catch one and tie it by the foot to a stool near a wire net. Candidates Turn To Jewish Bloc For Albany Votes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With the case of the missing crime files still up in the air, Democrat Frank D. O'Connor and Republican Gov. Rockefeller turned their attention today to New York City's large bloc of Jewish voters.

Three of the state's four major gubernatorial candidates — O'Connor, Rockefeller and Liberal Party contender Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. — planned to take turns addressing the New York Board of Rabbis in Manhattan.

In additional appearances on today's agenda: — O'Connor planned to meet with the National Council of Jewish Women and to speak before a gathering of the B'nai B'rith, a Jewish men's fraternal organization, both in Brooklyn.

— Roosevelt listed a tour with Republican Mayor John V. Lindsay, apparently in support of the city's controversial civilian review board for police, and a speech before the Jewish women's group, prior to an Upstate tour of Schenectady, Rome and Syracuse.

— Rockefeller was to attend a luncheon given by Francis Cardinal Spellman in honor of U Thant, secretary general of the United Nations, planned a speech to Columbia University students and a walking tour of Brooklyn.

Conservative party candidate Paul L. Adams scheduled conferences in Albany and a nighttime rally in Poughkeepsie with Conservatives from Dutchess, Ulster, Columbia and Greene counties.

Liberal Leader Quits Roosevelt, To Back O'Connor

NEW YORK (AP) — Impresario Sol Hurok resigned today as vice chairman of the Liberal party to work for the election of Democrat Frank D. O'Connor for governor.

Hurok, who was also one of the major financial backers of the Liberal party, will serve as chairman of Liberals for O'Connor.

The group is made up of Liberal party members disenchanted with Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., the Liberal party candidate, and their party's leadership.

The announcement came at a news conference attended by both Hurok and O'Connor.

Lutzin was elected to the post at the Congress for Parks and Recreation held October 9-13, in Washington, D. C. About 5,000 delegates attended the Congress, the first national meeting of the National Recreation and Park Association. The Congress is the successor to the National Recreation Congress which has served the field for the past 47 years.

He has assisted in the development of municipal recreation programs for more than 1,200 communities throughout the state. He was president of the American Recreation Society in 1964 before its merger with the other groups into National Recreation and Parks Association.

A graduate of Tufts University, where he earned his BS degree in 1935 and his masters in education in 1936, he has done graduate work at New York University.

He now resides at 319 Hackett Boulevard in Albany.

Support Johnson

NEW YORK (AP) — The leaders of two major Orthodox Jewish organizations have endorsed President Johnson's current move "to bring to a peaceful conclusion the conflict" in Viet Nam.

In a joint statement Monday, Rabbi Pesach Levovitz, president of the Rabbinical Council of America, and Moses I. Feuerstein, president of the Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations of America, called on North Viet Nam and its supporters "not to misunderstand the American will for peace."

The statement confined itself to peace gestures and did not take in general administration policy in Viet Nam.

Apprehend Five In Dutchess After High-Speed Chase

Two Rhinebeck State Troopers climaxed a high-speed chase on Route 9 last night with a foot race through the woods and apprehension of five youths, four of them juveniles.

The only name released by troopers was John Decker, 17, of 563 Main Street, Poughkeepsie, arrested on a charge of grand larceny of an auto. Decker, driving the car chased by the troopers, was later turned over to Poughkeepsie police.

The five were arrested after Troopers Ronald McPhail and Christopher Lecakes, on patrol near Hyde Park about 11:30 p. m., saw a 1954 car moving along Route 9 at a high rate of speed. They gave chase at speeds of 85 to 90 miles per hour until the car came to a sudden stop near Staatsburg and five persons jumped out and ran into a nearby woods.

Police said the two troopers apprehended three of the suspects in the woods and two others nearby.

According to Poughkeepsie Police, contacted today by The Freeman, the auto had been stolen earlier from Mervin Reeves, of Town Gardens Apartments, Poughkeepsie. They said it has been returned to the owner.

$200,000 Offered To Prove Human Soul Existence

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — About 18 days will be set aside next year in which to prove scientifically the existence of the human soul.

To the organization which can do this — and at least eight will try — the prize is more than $200,000.

The money was left by James Kidd, an Arizona miner who died in 1951. Kidd's will said his estate would go to any person or group furnishing "some scientific proof of a soul of the human body which leaves at death."

Attorneys believe the money also could be awarded anyone who is merely researching the existence of the soul.

Superior Court Judge Robert L. Myers said Monday a hearing expected to last 18 days would begin next March 6.

Kidd, a bachelor, said in his will he had no heirs.

Seeking to qualify for the money are the California Parapsychology Foundation, Inc., the Arizona Board of Regents, Arizona Foundation for Neurology and Psychiatry, Parapsychology Foundation, Inc., the University of Life Church, Inc., Neurological Sciences Foundation, Physical Research Foundation, Inc., and the Aquarian Foundation.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Friends Service Committee announced Monday that Dr. William Lotspeich, 46, University of Rochester physiologist, will become the group's executive director in mid-1968, when Colin Bell retires from the post.

Enters Innocent Plea In Shooting Brothers

TROY, N. Y. (AP) — Albert Schermerhorn, 50, of nearby Grafton, says he is innocent of charges of second - degree murder and second - degree assault in the shooting of his two brothers.

Schermerhorn entered that plea Monday before Judge John T. Casey, who set no bail in the case and ordered the accused man returned to Rensselaer County Jail.

Schermerhorn was charged in the death of his brother, Milford, 53, and the wounding of another brother, William, 67, on Aug. 25 after an argument near their homes, east of here.

State, Cossackie Split on Sewage Pollutant Charge

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The State Health Department and the village of Cossackie disagree whether the community, north of Hudson, pours sewage into the Hudson River.

A lawyer for the village told a department hearing Monday that the village did not own or operate the sewers from which the alleged pollutants were expelled into the river.

In addition, he said, there were no visible signs of pollution and, in any event, the village could not afford to build a sewage-treatment plant.

An engineer for the department testified that a dye test of swers in the village last Friday showed the pollutants were coming from village sewers.

Decision was reserved, pending further studies.

In another case, Louis D. Dunckle, a chicken - farmer in the Chenango County town of Preston, said he had eliminated a source of pollution from Meadow Creek, near the farm.

The case was postponed until Nov. 21 to allow state officials to determine whether the pollution had been eliminated.

Drivers Warned On Registrations Expiring Oct. 31

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The State Motor Vehicles Department warns that vehicle-owners whose registrations expire Oct. 31 should renew their license plates in person because it now is too late to mail the applications.

Commissioner William S. Hults said Monday approximately 400,000 motor-vehicle owners in the state have not yet renewed automobile registrations that expire at the end of the month.

He said about 900,000 renewal forms were mailed in September and so far only 500,000 renewals have been submitted.

This is the first year of the state's staggered motor-vehicle registration in which approximately 900,000 registrations will expire each month from October to March. The plan was to eliminate the logjam that occurred in the department when all non-commercial vehicle registrations expired on Jan. 31.
